PREFACE.

The members of the Morr Family convened in Trinity church, Ashland county, Ohio, July 18, 1881, for the purpose of organizing a Reunion of the Family. It was called by Rev. William A. Shisler who was chosen President of the meeting. After a brief discussion upon the propriety of such an organization it was decided unanimously in the affirmative, and that the first reunion be held in Samuel D. Morr's grove, near Trinity, August sixth, proximo. One motive in perfecting this organization was to cultivate as well as perpetuate a social disposition among the members of the Family; another, to collect historical facts, and from them prepare a paper to be read at each reunion by the person chosen as historian. Action relative to the publication of the Family History in book form was taken at the reunion held June 12, 1890. It was then that a committee was appointed to inquire into its cost, etc., but the material collected to date was insufficient to warrant the undertaking. It was resolved to make an effort to gather all additional history. At the twelfth annual, held June 9, 1892, the writer was chosen historian-in-chief, with an assistant. This was done in order that the field might be more properly divided, and the labor prove less burdensome. Since then the work has progressed as speedily as the facts could be gathered. Every family was appealed to for its family record, and such other facts as they could give, excepting where the information had previously been obtained. Space forbids the mention of those who so kindly responded to the requests made for historical facts. To one and all, known or unknown, heartfelt thanks for courtesies received are herewith extended.

The early history of the Family is not as complete as desired. The author hoped that in his research for historical facts a fuller account of the Morrs who came from Germany could be given. In the absence of the necessary information, it cannot be established from what section of that country they came, or how numerous a family they were. It is likely that members of the same relationship are still living in Germany whose genealogy it would be difficult to trace. It is gratifying to know that at least some facts pertaining to the two Morrs—John and Andrew—who came to America have been obtained for these pages. That they were related admits of no doubt. They settled in one and the same locality, though a difference of time may have intervened; were doubtless of the same religious faith, and therefore worshiped the true and living God; were Germans, and loved not only to speak the language but also mingle with their companions who conversed in the same dialect. The traits of character and some of the virtues with which they were possessed seem to run through all the branches of succeeding generations. Among the Morrises of the present period there are thrifty farmers—a vocation in which a larger number of each generation were engaged than in any other pursuit. They were always fortunate in their selection of fine, productive farms, and in a few instances these have remained in the family name for well nigh a century. The representatives of this Family, so widely scattered, were ever recognized as a kind-hearted, generous, hospitable people, a people who were peaceful and law-abiding, and, as a leading journal so tersely expressed it, “a people who pay their debts, live well, and enjoy life.”

CHAPTER I.

JOHN MORR*—HIS EMIGRATION TO AMERICA—LOCATION AT † MÜHL-BACH—WHERE HE AND HIS WIFE ARE BURIED
—HIS DESCENDANTS.

Among the most noted Germans who emigrated from Germany to America in the early part of the seventeenth century was John Conrad Weiser. He “was sent in the early part of 1721, to New York, to Governor William Burnet to hand him a petition. Some having heard favorable reports of lands in Pennsylvania.” ‡ Two years later Mr. Weiser “returned to Schoharie after an absence of four years, but he and those about him could not retain the lands they had improved except by purchasing them at exorbitant prices, which they could not afford, and believing that they could not with certainty retain other vacant lands in that vicinity even if they should take possession and improve them as they had done twice before, certain families united with him in determining to make another removal. For ten years they had heard of liberal grants in Pennsylvania to emigrants, and thither they directed their way. After cutting open a road from Schoharie to the head waters of the Susquehanna, a distance of twenty miles, they proceeded by rafts and boats on this river for over two hundred miles to the outlet of the Swatara Creek, and they pursued their journey along and beyond this stream until they reached the territory where the Tulpehocken takes its rise. Through an unbroken wilderness they continued for some miles farther, and finding at last a country that suited them in every way they halted; and there, in 1723, amongst the Indians, they established the first white settlement beyond the South Mountain which shortly afterwards came to be known as

* The early generations of the Family wrote their name Moore, but they sometimes fell into the habit of writing Morr. The latter orthography has for years been the custom of writing the Family name. A few, however, still differ.

† Properly spelled Mühlbach.

Tulpehocken" *—the land of the turtles. A number of these families located at Muhlbach, † Heidelberg township, Lancaster county, Pa., close to the Tulpehocken region, among whom was John Morr—a native of the Kingdom of Wurtemberg, Germany—the first representative of the Morr Family known. If a full account of the period just referred to could be written, it would be recognized as one of the most interesting episodes in our Colonial history. It is not known at what age John Morr settled in his latter home, to whom he was married or when he departed this life. There are still quite a number of Moore families living in Lebanon county, Pa., some in Berks, among whom are several members well advanced in years, but neither seem able to give a clue as to the kinship existing between them and those who figured in that neighborhood more than a century and a half ago.

John Morr owned a tract of land in Heidelberg township, prior to 1738. The writer had the pleasure of examining a draft for a tract of land which Henry Meyer owned at that time in the same neighborhood. Both tracts joined each other. The Meyer tract consisted of nearly 350 acres, and doubtless the Morr tract was just as large, for no real estate owner then was the possessor of a small tract of land. Mr. Morr and Mr. Meyer accompanied each other on their voyage to America. They evidently lived neighbors in Germany and in different localities in Pennsylvania and Ohio members of these families lived in friendly relationship with each other for many years. In several instances marriages occurred between them to which allusion will be made on subsequent pages. John Morr is buried at Muhlbach. Mr. Michael Zug, Lebanon, Pa., with whom the writer has held a correspondence in reference to John Morr and his family, says, "I was informed that John Morr died at the age of 87 or 88 years, but when is not known. He has no grave stone, but Mrs. Morr has a stone erected to her memory, with a long and rather peculiar German inscription," which translated reads thus: "Here rest the remains of a departed mother of four children, named Susanna Moore, three daughters preceded her to the eternal world. A son survives her. She was born January 15, 1728, married March 7, 1744, (at the age of 16 years, 1 month and 16 days,) lived in a matrimonial state for 43 years, 3 weeks, and 5 days, with her bereaved husband John Morr; died April 3, 1787."

It will be observed from the foregoing statement that a son survived Susanna Morr (Moore). While his name could not be definitely ascertained, it is believed that John Morr (Mohr) living at Muhlbach, born in 1753, died in 1831 or 1832, may have been, and in all probability was, the son of John and Susanna Morr. He married Elizabeth Meyer. She was born in 1754; died September 8, 1831. John Morr and his wife Elizabeth are buried at Muhlbach. Mr. Zug writes: "The couple have no tombstone. One of the sons threatened to break it to pieces if one would be erected."

There were nine children, six sons and three daughters.

VIII. HENRY (John, John,) was born October 25, 1792 ; died March 11, 1868, married Lydia Stover (daughter of Philip), born December 8, 1801 ; died January 6, 1856.

ISSUE ONE :

1. Michael was born September 26, 1822. Lives at Myers-town, Pa.

IX. PHILIP (John, John,) was born March 15, 1795 ; died June 2, 1866, married Margaret Winter, born February 22, 1804 ; died October 18, 1862.

ISSUE FIVE :

1. Elizabeth died young.

2. Sallie was married to Peter Keiser, who is now deceased.

3. Henrietta was married to Andrew Bomberger, both of whom are deceased.

4. Adaline was married to David Layser. They live on the old Moore homestead, Muhlbach.

5. John was married to Emma Spohn.

CHAPTER II.

ANDREW MORR—HIS SETTLEMENT IN CUMBERLAND COUNTY, PA.

—BUILDS A LOG HOUSE—THE PLACE WHERE HE WORSHIPPED—

HIS PUBLIC ACTS—DEATH AND WILL.

What kinship existed between John Morr referred to in the previous chapter and Andrew Morr, whose sketch will now be considered, is not known. It is the opinion of some members of the Family that they were brothers, perhaps cousins. Andrew Morr and his wife, Catherine, were natives of Germany, but there appears to be no record as to the time when they landed in America. "Andreas Morr lived in Shafferstown, (then called Heidelberg villiage) in 1758. He was born April 30, 1727, and his wife Catherine Elizabeth, April 17, 1732." * There was an Andrew Morr and Catherine Elizabeth, his wife, whose maiden name cannot be given, who located a short distance west of the Susquehanna River, in Penn's township, Cumberland county, Pa., in 1771, for it was in that year Mr. Morr's name first appears in the assessment list of said township. There can be no doubt that this is the same couple referred to above, for in the author's research for historical facts no other Andrew Morr could be discovered than the one who lived at Shafferstown and subsequently took up his abode in Cumberland county. Previous to Mr. Morr's removal into the locality just mentioned, he made application for one hundred and sixty acres of land adjoining Charles Brunk and George Bumbach on Middlecreek in Penn's township, Cumberland, now Washington township, Snyder county, Pa. The application was dated at Philadelphia, Pa., September 3, 1766, William Maclay, Deputy Surveyor, who then resided at the present site of Sunbury, Pa., was directed by Surveyor General John Lukens to survey the tract and make return thereof within six months from date of his instructions. Two other tracts of land were purchased by Mr. Morr, the deeds of which bear date, March 18, 1769. One tract was surveyed by virtue of a warrant dated Aug. 11, 1755, and granted to Daniel Oert. The deed sets forth that the said Daniel Oert, residing in Donegal township, Lancaster county, Pa., sold this land, consisting of 231½ acres for £85 to Andrew Morr, a resident, of Heidelberg township, in the same county and state. The land was located as follows: "A certain tract of land called Milltown, situate in the Dutch Valley, near Middlecreek, Cumberland county, Pa., John Lukens, Esq., the President of the Supreme Executive Council, signed the patent for the tract, July 9, 1755." * The other tract was 100 acres. It was "a certain tract of land situate in Cumberland county, Pa., adjoining lands of Hans Endrell and Peter Straub on a run that comes into the Little Mahony (Middlecreek)." For this tract he paid £70. Mr. Morr located on the tract first mentioned, close to a strong spring of water. The country into which he settled was an unbounded forest of pine trees—a beautiful forest stood far and wide. The whole region was in its natural state and the time was at hand when these new inhabitants commenced to level the wilderness. Mr. Morr's first act after locating on the premises was to cut one of these tall pine trees from which a table was made at which the family partook of their daily meals. This table for many years was owned by Isaac Morr, Kantz, Snyder county, Pa. Andrew Morr's home was ten miles east of the ancient Indian town of Shamokin. † The locality at the time of his settlement was not entirely free from the Indians, but they now and then frequented it, and the Whites entertained fears lest violence would be done unto them. There were localities where brutal massacres did occur, but none ever took place in the immediate vicinity of Mr. Morr's home.

* This was the year when land patent were first issued by the State of Pennsylvania.

† In 1756 the ancient Indian town of Shamokin disappeared from the face of the earth—destroyed by its own inhabitants. From time immemorial it had been an important point with the Aborigines. The seat of a king, the sub-capital of their confederacy south of Tioga, where all paths converged and where war and peace parties met."—Meginness History West Branch Valley, page 159. From different pages of the same volume the following additional information is derived: Governor Morris began the erection of Fort Augusta on the side where the town once stood; the same year Shamokin was destroyed. It was erected in order that the Whites might be the better protected. March 20, 1765, this Fort was vacated by an Act of Assembly, believing that those who chose to settle in the surrounding country would be able to defend themselves.

Jacob Meyer, who lived at Muhlbach, was an intimate friend of Andrew Morr. Both families accompanied each other to their new homes beyond the Susquehanna. Mr. Morr located east while Mr. Meyer pitched his tent the same distance west of where Freeburg is now located. Freeburg, then, was the intervening farm between the Morr and the Meyer farms, and was owned by Andrew Straub, the founder of Straubstown (Freeburg). In the course of time two of Andrew Morr's daughters married sons of Jacob Meyer to which allusion will be made elsewhere.

Mr. Morr built a temporary log house the year he located on the premises, which was occupied by his family until 1775 when a two story log house was substituted. (For sketch of same and surroundings see frontispiece). Here Mr. Morr spent his declining years in peace and comfort. It may not be amiss, perhaps, in this connection to describe briefly the house which he built. Its dimensions were 40x38 feet ; height 30 feet. The ceiling of the first story was made of inch boards. The floor of the second story consisted of two inch yellow pine plank grooved and tightly fitted. Some of them were twenty inches wide. The space between the ceiling and floor was filled with mortar. This is said to have been done to prevent Indians, who often prowled around hearing the sound of footsteps on the floor. The roof was supported by a purlin, the posts which held it were eight inches square. There were four rooms to each story, and the kitchen contained a wide hearth upon which the meals were cooked. The entrance from the porch into a small hall was closed by two heavy doors—an upper and a lower—like stable doors. Stones were placed between the logs in the walls of the first story, then thickly plastered with mortar to insure safety from arrows or bullets shot by Indians. This house was the rendezvous of the settlers for miles around whenever bands of Indians, bent on plunder, entered the Valley. The crevices in the upper part of the building were filled with pieces of wood, then plastered. A draught of the old log house with its surroundings was specially drawn for this work by the writer's father, Hon. George C. Moyer, of Freeburg, Pa. It was drawn in July 1892, thirty years after it had disappeared. On the 23rd of January, 1893,

Judge Moyer had occasion to drive by the premises when he noticed that the old saw-mill was being removed. It was the last remnant of the old buildings. He took occasion to talk to his family about it, and the following information was gathered from the conversation: "The saw-mill was erected by Andrew Morr, one of the first settlers, who came here when this Valley was covered by a dense forest, a quarter of a century before the founding of Freeburg. Thus one by one the old landmarks disappear, places dear to the recollection of my boyhood days. The old mill, which for many years had been silent and dilapidated under the weight of years, held for me at one time a peculiar-fascination. I remember now the busy flutter wheel, the dash ing water and the pleasant odor of freshly sawed timber, and also my walk home, when boy fashion I waded in the limpid water. I can imagine, but never know, the labor performed by our forefathers while clearing their land, and remember hearing them tell how they felled the magnificent white oak, poplar, pine, walnut, ash, sugar maple and wild cherry trees. Then the neighbors gathered and had what they called 'log rollings' when the trees were put on huge piles and burned. There was then not a single mill in the neighborhood."

Andrew Morr perceiving now destitute the community was without a place for religious worship set apart two rooms on the second story of his log house for church services. These rooms were thrown into one by means of a swinging partition which was raised to the ceiling before worship began. Here religious services were held for twelve years; it is the earliest place known in the Valley where the people first congregated for the worship of God. This was the period when missionaries frequented the territory with a view of organizing congregations. In May, 1862, Mr. Geo. W. Menges, a descendant of the family, removed the building under the direction of Isaac and Jacob Morr, who then occupied the premises.

The first steps toward building a house of worship in the vicinity in which Andrew Morr had located were taken when land was patented for this purpose. Andrew Morr, Peter Straub and Casper Roush secured a patent for forty-two acres in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., now located one mile north of Freeburg, Pa., as early as April 12, 1774. Building was postponed until 1787, and the log structure then erected never reached completion. This church was called the Zion's, or Morr's church. This church was removed in 1815, after the St. Peter's Lutheran and Reformed church at Freeburg was completed. In the Morr church the members worshiped for twenty-eight years, and there is a tradition that during this time there was no stove placed in it in which to build fire for the comfort of those who attended services during the winter season. This statement, however, is contradicted by the church records of Freeburg, Pa. While it may be a fact that the church was not heated during its early history, there was a stove placed in it previous to the time when it was taken down. From these Records it is learned that on the 8th of January, 1814, John George Morr, son of Andrew, oversigned a coal stove to Frederick Young, one of the deacons of the Morr church, in payment of a claim which the church held against him. The amount allowed was £5. 16s. 6d. Two acres of this land now only remain in possession of the Lutherans, in which is included the churchyard where lie Andrew Morr and a number of his kindred. Although there are four beautiful cemeteries in and near Freeburg, some families in that vicinity bury their dead in their old "cemetery" in the woods.

In 1795, the members of the Lutheran and Reformed congregations, who worshipped in the Morr (Zion's) church, received a communion service from Andrew Morr and his wife Catherine Elizabeth, consisting of a tankard and cup. Previous to this time the wine at Communion was put into a bottle, and a tumbler, also, was used into which the wine was poured. The tankard and cup which were substituted were in use at each successive communion service up to 1880, covering a period of eighty-five years. The material of this service is of pewter and besides a small crack which the cup received by an accident, both are well preserved. The tankard measures fourteen inches in height and when filled holds two quarts of wine. Mrs. Morr brought this cup with her in an apron, when upon one occasion she was returning on horseback from a visit to Shippensburg, Cumberland county, Pa. Upon each of these there is a German inscription beautifully carved. The English translation on the tankard reads: "To the praise of God, given as a gift of Charity from Andrew Morr in the Evangelical Lutheran-Zion's Church in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., the 29th of July, Anno Domini, 1795." The inscription on the cup is : "To the praise of God, given as a gift of Charity from Catherine Elizabeth Morr."

It was customary for some time after the erection of Northumberland county, which took place March 27, 1772, to appoint a committee of three persons from each of the eleven districts known as a "Committee of Safety." Andrew Morr was one of the number who represented Penn's township on the Committee for six months in 1777. At the April term of court, 1795, when a petition of the citizens of Penn's township was presented for the formation of a new township out of a portion of Penn's, Andrew Morr was appointed one of five viewers. Their report was confirmed at the April Courts, 1796. The name given to the new township was Mahantango; the ridge south of Freeburg formed the northern boundary line, leaving Mr. Morr's residence just outside its limits.

Andrew Morr was a farmer, distiller, and owned a grist mill. He dealt extensively in real estate, all of which was located in Cumberland county, now embraced in the counties of Snyder, Centre and Lycoming, Pa. In 1780, he was assessed with 479 acres of land upon which stood an oil mill, two distilleries, a grist-mill and saw-mill. Many of Mr. Morr's descendants are farmers and owners of productive farms. In his political views he held to the democratic faith and a majority of the family believe in the same doctrine. Mr. Morr departed this life in 1801, in the 75th year of his age; his wife preceded him to the spirit world a few years previous. Both are buried in the Morr cemetery. Their resting place is unmarked. After his wife's decease, he married Mrs. Anna Maria Dewald, of Shippensburg, Cumberland county, Pa. Anna Maria, or Mary Morr, as she was often called, survived her husband sixteen years, when she, too, was laid at rest in the Morr cemetery. A tombstone is erected over her grave, and, although it is somewhat worn and defaced by the elements, the inscription upon it is still legible to show the exact place of her burial. The inscription reads thus :

"Here rests Anna Maria, a born Renninger,

Was born July 12, 1747.

She was the wife of Christopher Beisel, Peter Dewald and Andrew Moore.

While married to Christopher Beisel she was the Mother of twelve children,

Died April 26, 1817,

Aged 69 years, 9 months and 14 days."

Before his death Andrew Morr made his Will. He appointed as his Executors his two sons John George and Philip Morr and George Mootz (Motz). August 18, 1801, the two first named appeared before Jeremiah Simpson, Esq., Sunbury, then Register and Recorder of the county of Northumberland, Pa., when the Will was probated. It is altogether probable that Mr. Morr's death occurred but a short time previous to the day when it came into the hands of the above official. The will which is on record at Sunbury, (Book I, pages 249-51,) reads as follows :

"I, Andrew Moore, of Penn's township, in the county of Northumberland, in the State of Pennsylvania, do make and publish this my last Will and testament in manner following :

That is to say first, I give and bequeath to my beloved wife Mary one hundred pounds to be paid unto her by my executors one year after my decease. I do, also, give and devise unto her one inlot in Freeburg N—joining Paul Ruckert, and fifty perches of land joining the same lot and an inlot near said town joining Philip Meyer, Jr., the lots to his heirs and assigns forever, in fee subject to the payment of the yearly ground rent due on the said outlot. I do, also, give unto her the use of my black horse for one year. I do, further, give and bequeath unto her all the household goods and other movable property which she was possessed of at the time I intermarried with her, also all articles of provisions in my house, all the wool of last shearing, last year's crop of flax and linen to be made thereof, one cow, four hogs, two sheep, one watering can, one frying pan, two cider barrels, to hold to the heirs and assigns. I do, also, give her the use of the house wherein I now live with stable and gardening belonging thereto and the one-half of the product of the small orchard, containing twenty-four apple trees, joining the barn, to be separated by fence from the remainder of the field to hold to her during the time she remains my widow. I do, also, order and direct that the land and plantation which I have hereinafter given to my son Philip, shall be subject this year to the payment of fifteen bushels of wheat and seven and-a-half bushels of rye, seven bushels of buckwheat, five bushels of oats and three bushels of corn, to my said wife, and yearly during her natural life if she shall so long remain my widow, the said land shall be subject to the payment to her of ten bushels of wheat, five bushels of rye, and the quantity of oats, buckwheat and corn first mentioned. My son Philip shall, also, deliver unto her during the term aforesaid at her dwelling the necessary fire wood for six months in each year, commencing the 15th day of January, and ending the 15th day of July, and find her hay for her cow and two sheep. He shall, also, permit her to plant and plow and prepare in good season for her to plant one eighth of an acre with flax and one-eighth of an acre with potatoes, this also to be prepared for her yearly during her widowhood. He shall, also, give unto her this season one and-a-half barrels of cider, one and-a-half gallons of apple whiskey, ten gallons of rye whiskey, and every season thereafter, he shall deliver unto her during her natural life, if she so long remains my widow, five gallons of rye whiskey and the quantity of cider and apple whiskey above mentioned when the season's good for apples, if not, then he is to give the half of the cider and apple whiskey, also an additional half barrel of late made water cider, and suffer and permit at all times the cow and sheep of the said Mary to run with his own cattle in pasture. I also give her the use of a hoe, churn and axe during her widowhood. I have a debt due me by Fetty Haas of five pounds and eighteen shillings, which I do, also, give unto my wife for the purpose of paying for the weaving of the yarn, both linen and woolen of last year which I before gave her. I do, further, order and direct that the land and plantation, which I hereinafter give unto my son, George Moore, shall be subject and he, the said George, his executers and administrators, shall be subject yearly and every year during the widowhood for six months from the 15th day of July to the 15th day of January next year, and every year thereafter during her widowhood as aforesaid, ten bushels of wheat, five bushels of rye, five bushels of oats, and three bushels of corn, also to give the use of and plow the seed for five and one-eighth of an acre for potatoes during the term aforesaid and five gallons of whiskey, also to be delivered her during the time she remains my widow. After this next harvest he shall give her five bushels of wheat, two and-a-half bushels of rye, seven and-a-half bushels of buckwheat, five bushels of oats, and three bushels of Indian corn, for the just and true performance of what I have given, devised and bequeathed that to my said wife and my sons George and Philip Moore have jointly entered into bonds to Simon Snyder * in trust for her use the one whereof for the payment of one hundred pounds and the other for the delivery to her what I have further directed and given in lieu of her dower. And it is my will and I do declare that the several articles, things, privileges and premises herein before given, bequeathed and devised shall be taken to be in full, for and in lieu and satisfaction of her dower or thirds, all claims and demands of, in, to or out of any estate real or personal.

Item—I do give and devise unto my son George Moore, his heirs and assigns forever, one hundred and fifty-six acres and seventy-five perches of land and allowance, being part of the plantation I now reside on and whereon the mills are situated to hold to him by the metes and bounds set forth and described in a deed thereof made to him, bearing even date, herewith (subject to uses herein before given to my wife) and do value the same to him at and for the sum of seven hundred pounds, whereof I abate him two hundred pounds as his proportionate share of five hundred pounds he has given me a bond or obligation considered for the payment of forty-two pounds yearly until the whole sum is paid; the first payment to be made on the first day of May, 1803. I do, also, give and grant unto him, his heirs and assigns forever, the use of the water passing in a race through the land hereinafter devised to my son Philip, and for ingress and egress to and on the same for men, cattle and carriages, for the purpose of digging, repairing, maintaining and upholding the said race and dam, and to take and remove or place earth, stone and other materials from, to or any part of the same dam or race within half a perch from high water mark, or either side thereof forever, with as little damage to my said Philip as possible. It is further my will and I do order and direct that my son Philip Moore, his heirs and assigns, shall forever have the right and privilege to use the water out of the race for the purpose of watering the meadow once every week, which period of time shall commence on Saturday at sunset and continue to next Monday at sunrise. And, further, if my said son Philip shall have occasion to make any repairs to his spring, it shall be the duty of my son George Moore, his heirs and assigns to let off, or draw out of the dam, the water standing therein, so that the necessary repairs can be made with effect; but the dam shall remain in such state not longer than two days at any one time. The intent of any repairs shall always be to lead a sufficiency of water through my son Philip's cellar, as it has been used for many years past. My son Philip, his heirs and assigns, shall, also, have the privilege forever to lead out of the said spring as much water as shall be necessary for his distillery.

Item—I do give and devise unto my son Philip, his heirs and assigns forever, two hundred and thirty-one acres of land and allowance, being part of the plantation I now reside on by the metes and bounds set forth and described in a deed thereof made to him (subject to the use herein before given to my wife Mary and subject likewise to certain rights vested in my son in relation to the dam and race and the water therein,) and do value the same to him at and for the sum of nine hundred and sixty pounds lawful money, whereof I abate him the sum of two hundred pounds, his proportionate share, for the residue of seven hundred and sixty pounds he has given me a bond, conditioned for the payment of fifty-eight pounds yearly until the whole sum is paid, the first installment to be paid on the first day of May, 1803, and like sum yearly for eleven years to come, and the last payment which happens to be sixty-four pounds is to be made on the first day of May, which shall be in the year 1816.

Item—I do hereby authorize and empower, enjoin, and require my sons George Moore and Philip Moore to sell for the joint use of my heirs by private sale or otherwise the land real estate which I and my wife by deed bearing even date herewith, do convey unto them in trust for the benefit and use of them, the said George and Philip, my other legal heirs as well as all other lands, seized and possessed, and I do empower them or the survivors of them, to make the needful and suitable deeds of conveyance or conveyances of the same to the purchaser or purchasers of the same. The land which I have conveyed to my sons this day * in fee, to wit : the plantation whereon I now live is not comprised in the above expression relative to the sale of real estate, but the sale thereof to them respectively is absolute in fee subject, however, as before ordered and directed. I do further order and direct that the one hundred pounds, payable to my wife, shall be paid out to my estate, no two-thirds standing, the bond given to my two sons for that sum for her use. The money arising from the sale of my said lands as my other personal property of whatever name or nature the same may be, not herein before given and bequeathed unto my eight children, to wit : one equal eighth part to George Moore : one-eighth part to Philip Moore ; one-eighth part to heirs and legal representatives of my daughter Christina Roush, deceased ; one-eighth part to my daughter Margaret Meyer, wife of Philip Meyer ; one-eighth part to the heirs and legal representatives of Magdalene Bolender, deceased ; one-eighth part to the children of Catherine Elizabeth Weaver, wife of Michael Weaver ; one-eighth part to Juliana Meyer, wife of Jacob Meyer, and one-eighth part to Barbara Stees, wife of Frederick Stees, and to their respective heirs and assigns forever. The two bonds given hereby my sons are excepted out of this equal distribution and I give and bequeath them to my other heirs, excluding my two sons from any part therein, I having before made them abatements in the price of the land.

“N. B. The words ‘the children’ were intended in conformity to my wish, will and direction, for it is my will and I do order and direct that the share of my daughter Catherine Elizabeth shall go to her children share and share alike. And lastly, I do, hereby, nominate, constitute my sons George Moore and Philip Moore and my good friend George Motz, executors, and the survivors or survivor executor of this my last will and testament, declaring this and no other to be my last will and testament.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has ruled that “A Will with attestation is valid in the absence of the date of execution, but failure of date and attestation both may invalidate the instrument.” In the original copy of this Will, the face of a man appears as a seal after Andrew Moore’s signature.

ANDREW MOORE.

“Letters signed, published and delivered by the said Andrew Moore, as his last will and testament in the presence of Frederick Evans, Jr., Simon Snyder, Michael Shaver.”

CHAPTER III.

CHRISTINA MORR AND HER DESCENDANTS.

CHRISTINA MORR was the oldest of the children of Andrew Morr. She was born August 4, 1757 ; died in Penn's township, Northumberland county, near what is now known as Freeburg, Pa., June 7, 1793. She was married to George Roush, who was a native of the same locality. She was the first of her parent's family buried in the Morr Cemetery near Freeburg. There is no tombstone to mark her resting place. She was a member of the Lutheran Church. Her descendants are numerous, and reside in different localities in Pennsylvania and some of the western States.

LIST OF CHILDREN :

Margaret.

Andrew.

George.

John.

Philip.

Catherine.

MARGARET (Christina, Andrew,) was a native of Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa. No extended history of her could be obtained. It was learned, however, that she was the oldest of the children. She moved to Ohio, but at what time and into what section of the State is not known. She married Geo. Snellenberger. They had a number of children and many years ago one of them, a tall, fine looking young man visited friends in his mother's native home.

ANDREW (Christina, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa. He, too, moved to Ohio, probably at the same time his sister located there. It is said that Andrew and his two brothers were accustomed, occasionally, to visit friends near Freeburg, Pa., and in doing so made the journey, about 500 miles afoot and on horseback. To whom Andrew was married, how large a family he had, what his vocation was, where he lived and is buried, are matters pertaining to his life which will probably never be revealed.

GEORGE (Christina, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa. There is no record to show in what part of Ohio George located. It is the writer's opinion that while his brother, John Roush, had located in Lucas county, Ohio, Andrew, George, and Margaret, settled near the same part of the State. Of George's family nothing could be learned.

JOHN (Christina, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., died at White House, Lucas, co., Ohio, in 1867. Mr. Roush moved to the latter place in 1846. The name of his first wife was Catherine Bickel, who was born near Freeburg, Pa., and died there. His second wife was Mrs. Salome Reddick. Her maiden name was Salome Glass, born near Freeburg, Pa. She died in the fall of 1862. Mr. and Mrs. Roush are buried in the cemetery at Waterville, Ohio. They were members of the Lutheran Church. By occupation he was a mason.

With his first wife there were two sons and three daughters.

I. ANDREW (John, Christina, Andrew,) married Catherine Hoot. She died at White House, Ohio, June 14, 1881. Andrew was a farmer.

ISSUE (Surname Roush) TWELVE :

1. Samuel was born January 28, 1836.
2. George was born September 11, 1837; died September 26, 1872; buried in cemetery at Goshen, Indiana.
3. Matilda was born September 16, 1838; died September 25, 1885.
4. Jerome was born April 12, 1841; died February 24, 1873. He is buried in cemetery at Elkhart, Indiana.
5. Elias was born April 28, 1844; died October 8, 1865. He is buried in cemetery at Elkhart, Indiana.
6. Amelia was born July 23, 1846; died November 28, 1846.
7. Cyrus was born September 14, 1848; died September 3, 1849.
8. Marian was born February 24, 1852; died October 2, 1855.
9. Philip was born January 17, 1862.
10. Lydia was born November 28, 1866.

11. Abbey was born January 10, 1868.

12. Jane was born February 10, 1872.

II. FRANK (John, Christina, Andrew,). To whom Frank was married could not be ascertained. He is a widower and at this writing June, 1893, resides at Rolla, Phelps County, Missouri.

ISSUE (Surname Roush) TWO :

1. John resides at Rolla, Missouri.

2. Adena resides at Rolla, Missouri.

III. MIRANDA was quite young when her mother died. She was married to John Duck, a shoemaker. Miranda died in June, 1882 ; Mr. Duck died in 1875.

ISSUE (Surname Duck) FIVE :

1. Henry died at Toledo, Ohio.

2. Aaron.

3. William was killed while in the service of his country during the late war. He was married to Eliza Hawk.

4. Urias died at Monclova, Ohio.

5. John was born January 25, 1845 ; married Biancy Keeler ; who was born April 28, 1847.

CHILDREN, SEVEN :

(1.) William Sherman, born July 24, 1867.

(2) Affadel, born September 10, 1869 ; died August 25, 1881.

(3) Alfaretta, born April 5, 1872.

(4) Jessie May, born November 27, 1874 ; died August 26, 1881.

(5) John S., born May 25, 1877.

(6) Freddie H., born August 15, 1882.

(7) Levi F., born August 11, 1885.

IV. EVE, married to Samuel Arbogast. Both are deceased and are buried at Rolla, Missouri.

ISSUE (Surname Arbogast) THREE :

1. John, married to Matilda Roush.

CHILDREN FOUR :

(1) Pierce.

(2) Philip.

(3) Felix.

(4) Washington died at Dalmatia, Pa. He was married to a Miss Rothermel.

2. Absalom resides at Napoleon, Henry county, Ohio.

3. Philip resides in Missouri.

V. SUSAN.

PHILIP (Christina, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., May 2, 1783; died December 11, 1844. He was married to Maria Yerigant, who died near Freeburg, Pa., May 6, 1858, aged 76 years. Both were members of the Lutheran Church; buried in the Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery, Freeburg, Pa. Mr. Roush was a farmer.

There were ten children, three sons and seven daughters.

I. Catherine (Philip, Christina, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg, Pa., January 29, 1802; died of consumption October 2, 1851. She was the second wife of Peter Lenig, who was born April 9, 1801; died at the home of his daughter Catherine Zeigler, near Freeburg, Pa., April 14, 1883. Mr. Lenig is buried in the Morr Cemetery; his wife in the Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery, Freeburg.

ISSUE (Surname Lenig) SEVEN :

(1) Caroline was born near Freeburg, Pa., February 24, 1827, married to George W. Helwig. She resides at East Salem, Juniata county, Pa. Her husband was born in Washington township, Union county, Pa., March 16, 1827; died May 10, 1888; is buried in St. John's Cemetery, Fre-mont, Snyder county, Pa.

CHILDREN EIGHT :

(1) Amelia, born in Washington township, Union county, Pa., February 16, 1850; married to Reuben Try. He was born near Adamsburg, Union county, Pa., February 3, 1854. Leaves Offspring: (a) Peter, born April 17, 1884; (b) Reuben, born February 28, 1886.

(2) Jane, born in West Perry township, Union county, Pa., in 1853; married Frederick R. Fisher. He was born in Greenwood township, Juniata co., Pa., November 11, 1854. He is a farmer. Leaves Offspring: (a) George Allen Troup, born Jan. 9, 1876; (b) James Peter, born July 26, 1881; died Aug. 11, 1881; (c) John Franklin, born November 7, 1883; (d) Amanda May, born May 21, 1887; (e) Norman Helwig, born December 16, 1890.

(3) Peter remained single. He located at Hooper, Dodge county, Nebraska, where he died from sunstroke in 1878.

(4) James P., born near Richfield, Pa., March 7, 1858; married Emma Kramer. She was born in West Perry township, Snyder county, Pa., July 2, 1862. Leaves Offspring ; (a) Priscilla Elizabeth, born February 6, 1883 ; (b) James Peter, born October 15, 1884 ; (c) George W., born September 21, 1888 ; (d) Mabel Caroline, born February 4, 1890 ; (e) Bright Cleveland, born September 10, 1892.

(5) George Allen, born November 10, 1860 ; married Sarah Seaman. She was born January 15, 1860. Leaves Offspring : (a) Lizzie C., born November 10, 1879 ; (b) Ida E., born February 27, 1882 ; (c) Jennie A., born March 16, 1884 ; (d) Sadie M., born September 1, 1887 ; (e) Mary N., born September 27, 1890.

CHAPTER IV.

ANNA MARGARET MORR AND DESCENDANTS.

Anna Margaret Morr was the second daughter of Andrew Morr. She was born August 20, 1759; died near Petersburg, Centre county, Pa., March 12, 1829. She was married to Philip Meyer * about the year 1780. He was born November 14, 1755; died near Petersburg, Pa., April 27, 1831. The respective family histories of the Morrs and Meyers have been running in parallel streams for over a century with frequent intermingling of their branches all along their course. The first marriage is the one mentioned above, but as stated in the opening chapter of the volume, there was a John Morr who married Elizabeth Meyer, daughter of John Meyer, at an earlier period. Some suppose that this John Morr and Andrew Morr, Anna Margaret's father were brothers. Anna Margaret lies buried by the side of her husband in the Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery at Petersburg. A brown sandstone marks their resting place. The writer visited their graves at twilight on September 7, 1892. A number of the Meyer family lie buried here, but none of Anna Margaret's descendants. The descendants of this family are numerous and are all in the Western States, principally in Ohio and Iowa.

*Philip Meyer was heavy built, muscular and active, but not as tall as his brothers. He was a noted wrestler in his day, and was not averse to contests of a more serious nature, as his numerous experiments in that line seem to demonstrate. But that was in an age when physical power was at a premium.

PHILIP (Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., near Freeburg, December 20, 1780; died December 19, 1858, and is buried in the Smyrna Cemetery, Felicity, Ohio. He was twice married; first to Elizabeth Meyer, and after her decease to Sarah Erensperger, a lady from near Lexington, Ky., during the latter part of 1814 or the beginning of the year 1815. His second wife was born in Pennsylvania, April 1, 1790; died at the residence of her daughter, Matilda Houser, in Logan county, Illinois. When Elizabeth, his first wife was born, is not known; she is buried by the side of her husband. He moved to Kentucky about the year 1801, perhaps a year later, thence to Felicity, Ohio, where he lived during the balance of his years, engaged in farming. He was a member of the New School Presbyterian Church. (Philip's descendants write their name Moyer.)

There were sixteen children, nine sons and seven daughters. Eight of these were children with the first wife, eight with the second.

I. HENRY (Philip, Anna, Margaret, Andrew,) was born about the year 1802; was drowned when about fifteen years of age. The sad event occurred while his father had gone to Kentucky to bring home his second wife. The boy fell into a creek which had been swollen by heavy rains.

II. ANDREW (Philip, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born about the year 1802-1803; died in infancy.

III. SUSAN (Philip, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born December 2, 1803, at Felicity, Ohio; was married to James Cook in 1822. He was born June 23, 1797; died Oct. 19, 1872; lies buried in Locket Cemetery, Vermillion county, Illinois. Susan is living in Vermillion county, Illinois, while her family moved from Felicity, Ohio, in 1835.

The man who could leap the greatest distance, could kick the highest and hit the hardest blows was a hero and received the applause of society. There was a vast amount of hard work to do in those pioneer days, and for want of labor-saving machinery, it had to be accomplished by sheer physical force. Hence, any exercise which tended to muscular development, or exhibited physical vigor in its greatest perfection, was cherished and applauded. Philip served in the Revolutionary War, being a member of Capt. Ben Weiser's Company. Adam Schaffer was Lieutenant of the Company, and subsequently became captain by promotion. On his return from the army, Philip settled down to domestic life near Freeburg for a number of years, thence moved to Brush Valley, Centre county, Pa. This was about the year 1802. He located on a tract of land consisting of 309 acres, about a mile east of the present post village of Wolf's Store, and five miles south of the head waters of Elk Creek. This tract he bought from John George and Philip Morr, executors of their father's estate, May 1, 1816. Mr. Meyer was of a liberal disposition, kind to his family generous to his neighbors, and a useful citizen in his township. For many years, he was Supervisor of Miles township, serving in that capacity in 1815, when the public road from Wolf's Store across the mountains to Penn's Valley was made. He was a consistent member of the Reformed Church, and embraced religion in his declining days, and died a happy Christian.—Meyer Genealogy. Vol. I, Pages 42, 43.

In 1866 he entered Freeburg Academy, then taught school during the winter of 1866; moved to Akron, Ohio, in April, 1868, where he has since followed different lines of business, but at present is a member of the firm of Motz & Myers, already mentioned, a firm which does a vast amount of business in the line of Life and Fire Insurance. Mr. Motz is a Democrat, and an active worker in his party. In April, 1891, he was elected a member of the City Council from the First Ward, which is strongly Republican, and in 1893, unsolicited by him, he came near receiving the nomination of his party as candidate for Mayor of the City of Akron. He is connected with many business enterprises, and devotes much time and labor to the promotion of the welfare of his City. He is a member of the Lutheran Church.

VII. HENRY (Barbara, Ann Margaret, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg, Pa., June 11, 1820 ; died at Huntsville, Alabama, May 19, 1885 ; buried at Huntsville. He was married Oct. 24, 1848, to Elizabeth, daughter of George and Catherine Moyer.

The latter couple were second cousins. Henry and his wife, Elizabeth, were also second cousins. Elizabeth was born at Freeburg, Dec. 14, 1827 ; died suddenly at Huntsville, May 12, 1895. Henry was educated at Mifflinburg Academy, made a tour of the West during which time he attended and taught school. He was a hard student, and at the time of his death was well versed in all the sciences. While a resident of Pennsylvania, he held the position of County Surveyor and Justice of the Peace for a number of years ; also devoted some of his time to agriculture. After moving to Akron, Ohio, in April, 1864, he was successfully engaged in several enterprises, but having a desire to move to a more congenial clime, he ultimately landed in Alabama, after the memorable reconstruction days that kept the State in such a state of turmoil. In Alabama he took a high stand as an agriculturist, and was considered an authority upon all subjects pertaining to it, especially from a scientific standpoint. He held the position of County Surveyor for a number of years, which he still held at the time of his death. He was esteemed and beloved by all for his gentlemanly bearing ; for his indomitable energy ; his unswerving devotion to duty ; his unimpeachable integrity ; his stern regard for justice and right ; his great respect for religious and moral standing. His great force of character commanded for him the respect that had his life been spared a while longer he would, doubtless, have been honored with still higher positions of trust. In Pennsylvania, Mr. Motz was a member of the Lutheran Church, but when he became a resident of Huntsville he united with the Presbyterian Church. Since his death his wife, Elizabeth, found solid comfort with her children, and to her much was due for the success they attained.

ISSUE THREE :

1. George Irvin was born at Freeburg, Pa., Aug. 9, 1849. He received the rudiments of education at the Freeburg Academy and Missionary Institute, Selin's Grove, Pa., completing his collegiate education in Ohio. He also took a business course and a special course in civil engineering. At the solicitation of his parents, he changed his plans of life and remained with them. He follows in the wake of his father, emulating his virtues. He is a very influential citizen, not only in the city in which he lives, but throughout the State. Since the death of his father, he holds the position of county surveyor, and was recently reappointed. He was the chief engineer of the county system of turnpikes. He is Secretary of the Farmers' Central Club. He is President of State Horticultural Society; Vice President for Alabama of the American Pomological Society; was for several years Vice President and Superintendent of the Alabama State Fair; Vice President of the Board of Judges in the Department of Horticulture at the World's Fair; has been delegate to all prominent Farmers' Conventions in Alabama and other States. He takes a great interest in his farm, which is beautifully located about one and one-half miles northwest of Huntsville. He is classed the model agriculturist and horticulturist, an honor he justly deserves. He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

2. Ella Catherine was born at Freeburg, Pa., Aug. 1, 1855. She received her education in Ohio, and Female College, Huntsville, Alabama. She has taken great interest in church work, being either a member of the choir or organist for a number of years. She has quite a reputation throughout the State as an expert in her exhibition of taste in the arrangement of exhibits at the State Fairs, invariably taking the premium in exhibits under her supervision. She served successfully as Judge in local and State Fairs in various departments for years. Her sympathetic nature, her amiableness, her sweet disposition and public spiritedness have secured for her not only an enviable reputation throughout the State, but enjoys the true friendship of legions. She is a member of the Episcopal Church.

3. Levi Henry was born at Freeburg, P., Sept. 18, 1859; died near Huntsville, Alabama, July 28, 1879; buried at Huntsville. He was a very intelligent and pious young man. JACOB (Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., near Freeburg, May 25, 1788; baptized June 24, 1788; died Aug. 4, 1857; buried in the Morr Cemetery, Trinity Church, six miles east of Ashland, Ohio. His final resting place is but a short distance from where he had lived. He was about fourteen years old when his father moved from Northumberland to Brush Valley, Centre county, Pa., and there he spent the years of his minority. He was joined in matrimony with Mary Stein, and the couple moved on a farm near the present village of Hamburg, Clinton county, Pa.: remained there until 1836, when the family, now increased to six children, moved to Ohio, locating on a farm in the neighborhood above mentioned, in Perry township, Ashland (then Wayne) county. Jacob's farm contained 140 acres; it is now owned by his son George. His brother Benjamin came to Ohio in 1833, owned a farm adjoining his, and Henry, another brother, lived on a farm several miles east, near Redhaw, (Lafayette); the region for miles around was settled almost exclusively by emigrants from Pennsylvania, among whom were many Morr families, as will be observed by reference to pages further on in this volume. Jacob, the subject of this sketch, was tall, rather slim, had blue eyes, dark hair. Politically he was a Democrat. His wife was born in Centre county (now), Pa.; died at her home near Trinity Church, Sept. 12, 1872, aged 74 years, 7 months, 7 days; lies buried by the side of her husband. Both were members of the Evangelical Association. He wrote his name Myers as do all the Myer families now living west of Pennsylvania.

There were ten children, five sons and five daughters.

I. JONATHAN (Jacob, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was married to Mary Spangler, a native of Pennsylvania. The couple lived on a farm near Jeromeville, Ohio. Jonathan was a member of the Evangelical Association. He died Jan. 28, 1883, aged 62 years, 2 months, 26 days; his wife is still living (1893) and is a member of the Lutheran Church.

ISSUE TWELVE:

1. Jacob was married to Elizabeth Jackson. They live near Jeromeville, Ohio.

2. Mary, single.
3. Elmira was married to Lem Weidler.
4. Frank was married to Amanda Treace.
5. Henry, single.
6. Emma was married to Howard Miller, Paradise, Pa.
7. Jane was married to Lee Hall, Striker, Ohio.
8. William was married to Dora Gill, Reedsburg, Ohio.
9. Elmer, single.
10. Kate, single.
11. Clement, single.
12. Ira, single. Most of the children are still living on their father's old homestead, near Jeromeville.

II. GEORGE (Jacob, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Centre county, Pa., Nov. 12, 1822 : was baptized by Rev. Yost Henry Fries, a minister of the Reformed Church, Dec. 20, same year. He was joined in marriage with Elizabeth Morr, daughter of Andrew Morr, and granddaughter of Andrew Morr, one of the first settlers in the neighborhood of the present site of Freeburg, Snyder county, Pa. She was born in Penn's Valley, Centre County, Pa., April 12, 1827. In previous chapters of this volume mention is made that marriages occurred between the Morr and Meyer families, but in the family of Andrew Morr, father of Elizabeth, these intermarriages were more frequent. Her brother Elias Morr is married to Sarah Meyer ; her brother John Philip Morr was married to Catherine, daughter of Benjamin Meyer ; her cousin Emanuel Morr was married to Eliza Meyer. Now when it is remembered that the above named persons, Meyers, or Myers as they write their name, as well as Morrs, are descendants of Andrew Morr, who resided near Freeburg, Pa., the intricacies of relationship become quite bewildering. George Myers, the subject of this sketch, in early life followed his trade that of wagon maker for twenty-two years, making the wood work for the now famous Studebaker Wagon Manufactory, which was located originally six miles east of Ashland, Ohio, near the Myers homestead. George Myers was a partner in this enterprise, but when the Studebakers moved to Indiana, he severed his connection with it and commenced farming. He purchased his father's farm on which he resided until the spring of 1893 when, with his family, he moved to Ashland. At this time (1893) he is hale and heartly and enjoys the fruits of a life of thrift and industry. He is still an energetic worker in the church and Sunday-school; a member of the Evangelical Association and is one of its strong pillars. For twenty years he was class-leader; a member of the Sunday-school more than sixty-three years, the first school he attended having been at Washington Furnace, Clinton Co., Pa. He has been an active politician and has filled different township offices. In 1872 he was elected on the Democratic ticket, a member of the Board of Infirmary Directors, of Ashland County, Ohio, serving six years in that capacity. In stature he is not very tall, but heavy set; has blue eyes and hair once auburn, now turning gray. He is frank and obliging, honest in all his dealings, a very agreeable gentleman in every respect.

ISSUE NINE :

1. Francis Enoch was born March 16, 1849. He spent the years of his minority under the parental roof, assisting his father on the farm, and attending during the winter months the district school of the neighborhood. The "even tenor" of farm life not being congenial to his tastes he left home at the age of twenty-one to enter the stirring arena of the business world. His first experience in business was as clerk in the dry goods store of M. B. Parmle, Ashland, Ohio, at the meagre salary of $100 a year. But his fine business qualities soon become known, and he was employed by the Ashland Machine Company as salesman at a salary of $65 per month, serving this company from 1870 until the fall of 1874. In the following spring he began selling agricultural implements on his own responsibility. His first store-room was a large shed, part of which stood upon the ground now occupied by the Freer and Mason Block, Ashland, and in the spring of 1876, he opened an agricultural implement store in what was then known as the Times building. In 1875, he took into his employ his younger brother Philip A., then a young man of a mechanical turn of mind, an inventive genius, whose many useful inventions contributed largely in subsequent years, to the success of the business enterprise of the two brothers. After a period of two years, they entered, January 1, 1879 into a partnership under the firm name of F. E. Myers & Brother, and have been thus associated ever since. Meanwhile, their business increased rapidly and it became necessary to seek more commodious quarters. The first floor of the Mansfield building just across the street from their former stand was secured, which, in a short time, became inadequate, and other parts of the building were appropriated to this business; they also secured a warehouse near the railroad for the storage of phosphate and machinery. In 1881, the firm handled $125,000 worth of goods. In connection with his other duties, Francis E. became traveling salesman and superintendent of agencies for Bucher & Gibbs, Canton, Ohio, manufacturers of the Imperial Plow, leaving his brother Philip A. in charge of the home business. This continued until 1885, when the Bucher & Gibbs Company was incorporated. The Myers Brothers were elected directors, and their traveling salesman was invested with the office of vice president, which position he now holds. He is at present (1894) a director of the First National Bank of Ashland and its Vice President. F. E. Myers & Brother have achieved great success as manufacturers. The reader will learn this more fully, in the sketch of Philip A. Myers on a subsequent page. Francis E. has been to almost every nook and corner of the United States in the interest of the firms with which he is connected; and in 1893, he was one of a party of leading manufacturers and capitalists who made an extensive tour through Mexico, Cuba, and several South American States, in the interest of American manufacturers, and thus met the principal commercial men and leading political and official representatives of those countries. Mr. Myers' residence is pleasantly located in the south-eastern part of Ashland and is one of the most attractive and homelike abodes in the city. He is a member of the Lutheran Church, and is a liberal contributor to both church and other meritorious institutions. He is a Democrat, but has never aspired for political honors. Physically, he is of a medium stature and weight; has black eyes and dark hair. Socially cheerful, unassuming, possessing the happy faculty of making his guests feel at ease, he is an affable gentleman with whom to spend an hour or two at his beautiful and comfortable home, is a pleasure. He has been president of the reunion of the "Morr Family" for a number of years, a position which he seems to fill so efficiently and acceptably that his tenure of office will probably be for life. He was married January 18, 1872, to Allie S., daughter of Solomon and Catherine Hohenshil, Rowsburg, Ohio. His wife is also a member of the Lutheran Church; she was born at Lattisburg, Ohio, December 29, 1851.

CHILDREN SIX :

(1) Mayme, born Sept. 2, 1872. She is at present (1894) a student of the National School of Elocution and Oratory, Philadelphia, and already displays fine elocutionary powers and gives promise of great success in that department.

(2) Charles S., born May 1, 1874; died in infancy.

(3) George Jay, born April 18, 1875.

(4) John C., born April 25, 1878.

(5) Katie L., born June 24, 1880.

(6) Helen A., born Sept. 14, 1883.

2. Salina was born Sept. 8, 1850; married to Peter Countryman, Feb. 12, 1872. They live on a farm in Ashland County, Ohio.

CHILDREN TWO :

(1) Perry S., born Jan. 3, 1873; died Sept. 5, 1893. His death was accidental, caused by being kicked in his side by a horse that stood in the stable while leading another to its stall. He expired the day following the accident. The burial was at Trinity Church. It was a sad and largely attended funeral.

(2) Preston E., born July 13, 1874; married Emma Scott Nov. 12, 1893.

3. Philip Andrew was born Aug. 14, 1853; married Dec. 31, 1879, to Samantha, daughter of Hon. James E. Chase, of Polk, Ohio. Philip A. remained with his father until twenty-one years of age, assisting the latter in the work of the farm and attending the winter terms of the district schools. He also, for several terms attended Smithville Academy and afterwards took a course in the Adrian Commercial College, Michigan, graduating from that institution in 1876.

Philip A. manifested a fondness for mechanical contrivances while still quite young, and his father's work-shop with its set of tools was the boy's delight. In the sketch of Francis E., it has been stated that he and Philip A. formed the partnership of F. E. Myers & Brother in the manufacture of agricultural implements in 1879. Philip A. devised some improvement in well pumps for which the Ohio State Board of Agriculture awarded the Silver Medal and Highest Diploma for best pump over all competitors at the Ohio State Fairs for five consecutive years. This fact encouraged the brothers greatly, and the favorable endorsement their pumps thus received from such high authority gave a great impetus to the business of their establishment. Hitherto, they had carried on the work on quite a small scale, employing only five or six men, but now the field of their operations widened rapidly. More men were employed, more improvements made in articles manufactured, a greater variety of implements was added to the list of their products, such as hay forks, hay and grain carriers, many new styles of pumps, additional buildings erected from time to time, so that at this date their establishment, it is claimed, is the largest institution of the kind in this country. They now employ almost two hundred men and their sales amount to more than $400,000 annually. Their articles of manufacture are shipped into every State of the Union and to many Foreign countries. The firm construct many of their own tools and machinery used in the manufacture of their implements; several of these machines contain in their construction inventions of such value and importance that the curious visitor is not permitted to enter the room in which they are operated, nor have they ever been described in the Records of the Patent Office, so careful have the proprietors been to guard the secret. Philip A. has been granted over fifty patents by the United States Patent Office, relative to inventions in the manufacture of haytools, wind-mills and pumps, of which the patent for the glass valve-seat in pumps is the most important. It is no derogation to others, therefore, in saying that his genius as an inventor has been instrumental to a great degree in securing the wonderful success of the firm. Philip A. has dark eyes, black hair, is not tall but heavy set and well proportioned physically. He is jovial, witty, and a pleasant gentleman to meet; a member of the Lutheran Church. He lives in a fine residence in Ashland.

CHILDREN TWO :

- (1) Grace, born October 5, 1881 : died January 11, 1890. The following tribute to her memory appeared in the Ashland Gazette : "Gracie, the eight year old daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. P. A. Myers, died at the home of her parents on Centre Street, last Saturday evening. The disease which prostrated her, tubercular meningitis, first made its appearance some weeks ago, since which time she has been gradually wasting away until last Saturday night, when the spirit took its flight from the tenement of clay, leaving a desolate, disconsolate, and sorrowing family behind. Gracie was a remarkably bright child, and endeared herself to everybody with whom she came in contact. In the deep bereavement of the afflicted family, the sympathy of the entire community went out to them, which was demonstrated yesterday forenoon at the funeral obsequies, which were held in the Lutheran church. The services were conducted by Revs. Mathers, Duncan and Andrews. The casket was beautifully adorned with cut flowers. The school children of the East Walnut Street school, of which she was a member, were present. Human nature at such times, and when such youthful, pure and holy bodies are consigned to the grave, is prone to bewail the untimely taking off of one so young, but the inscrutable designs of a Divine Providence are above the ken of mortal eyes, and His motives, however harsh they may seem, cannot be judged by his children on earth."

(2) Guy, twin brother.

4. Miranda M. was born August 17, 1857. She resides with her parents at Ashland, Ohio.

5. Savilla E. was born March 16, 1859; married Feb. 2, 1888, to J. Ezra Spreng, of Akron, Ohio, brother of Rev. S. Spreng, Editor of the Evangelical Messenger, published at Cleveland, Ohio. Her husband was born Feb. 3, 1856. She was the first historian of the "Morr Family" and served in that capacity from 1881 to 1886. At the reunion of the same family, held June 9, 1892, she was elected Necrologist, which position she still fills. Mr. Spreng is a book-keeper in the employ of F. E. Myers & Brother, Ashland.

CHILDREN TWO :

(1) Julia Marie.

(2) Warren Myers.

6. Alvah was born Sept. 2, 1861; married to Zoie Parker, from the vicinity of Ashland, Ohio, May 12, 1887. He attended Vermillion Institute, and the Ohio Normal University. At present he is Financial Clerk for F. F. Myers & Brother. During the summer of 1893, he spent most of his time at the World's Fair, Chicago. superintending the fine exhibit of the manufactures of his brothers (F. E. Myers & Brother) in that city.

CHILD ONE :

(1) Hazel Catherine, born Sept. 20, 1891.

7. George Denton was born Aug. 20, 1864. He took a Commercial course at the Ohio Normal University at Ada, Ohio, graduating April 5, 1887. He is at present traveling salesman for the firm of F. E. Myers & Brother, and has for his territory many of the western, and several of the southern states. Denton spent part of the summer of 1893 at the Columbian Exposition in the interest of the firm he represents. June 21, 1894, he married Jennie Heikel, Jeromeville, Ohio.

8. Araminda Viola was born Nov. 15, 1871; died April, 1, 1879; buried at Trinity church east of Ashland, Ohio.

9. Effie C. was born May 4, 1876; lives with her parents at Ashland, Ohio.

III. JACOB, (Jacob, Anna, Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Centre county, Pa., August 10, 1824; married 1st, Elizabeth Horn; 2nd, Nancy Grubb. The family lives at Republic City, Kansas.

(2) Ethel May, born December 29, 1893.

7. Harvey M. was born March 22, 1868.

8. Maggie A. was born April 13, 1870.

VII. MARY (Jacob, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Centre county, Pa., Sept. 21, 1833 ; died March 20, 1872. She is buried at Trinity Church. She was married to Joseph Eichelberger. They had no children.

VIII. DANIEL (Jacob, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Centre county, Pa., Feb. 11, 1836 ; married to Elizabeth Felger, January 24, 1861. She was born June 16, 1842. The couple are members of the Evangelical Association. They live on a farm a short distance north of Rowsburg, Ohio.

ISSUE THREE :

1. Melvin S. was born May 12, 1866 ; married to Libbie Colors ; live near Rowsburg, Ohio.

2. Artie A. was born May 6, 1873 ; single (1893).

3. Lilly M. was born Dec. 8, 1861.

IX. CATHERINE (Jacob, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Ashland county, Ohio, April 16, 1840 ; married to John Eichelberger Jan. 18, 1865. He was born Nov. 3, 1838, in Cumberland county, Pa. He is a cousin to Joseph Eichelberger, mentioned above. The family lives a short distance east of Rowsburg, Ohio, where Mr. Eichelberger is farming.

ISSUE (Surname Eichelberger) SIX :

1. Infant was born October 4, 1865 ; deceased,

2. George Elmer, born October 18, 1866.

3. Mary, born June 30, 1870.
4. Clara V., born November 4, 1874.
5. Minnie B., born June 16, 1875.
6. John J., born July 8, 1881.

X. BENJAMIN (Jacob, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, December 21, 1841; married, November 29, 1870, to Samantha, daughter of Dr. J. P. Cowan, formerly a member of Congress from the Fourteenth (Ohio) District. She was born October 28, 1851; died November 21, 1878; buried in the Ashland Cemetery, Ashland, Ohio. Benjamin passed his earlier years on his father's farm, and the educational privileges which he enjoyed then were those afforded by the district school of the neighborhood. In April, 1861, he left home to enter the Vermillion Institute, Hayesville, Ohio, as a student, and remained until August 24, 1862, when he enlisted in the army, as a private in the 120th Regt. O. V. I. He served three years, and was discharged as a Sergeant. His career in the army was that of a brave soldier boy, doing his duty faithfully, whether on the wearisome march or on the field of battle. Besides a number of engagements of minor importance, he took part in the battles of Chickasaw Bluffs, Arkansas Post, Siege of Vicksburg, and the capture of Fort Blakely, the last named occurring April 9, 1865, and resulting in the evacuation of Mobile by the confederates the day following. On his return from the army, he resumed his studies. His predilections being in favor of the medical profession, he took up the usual course of reading in that line, entered the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, Pa., graduating in March, 1869. Subsequently he took a course in the Long Island College Hospital and a Post Graduate course in New York City. He still makes frequent excursions to the Eastern medical institutions to attend lecture courses and to take advantage of every means of advancement in his profession. He is no drone in his profession, but is ever diligent in his search for new facts and vigilant lest some important method or discovery should elude his attention. Being thus thoroughly equipped for his chosen profession, and being withal a courteous, frank and agreeable gentleman, he stands high in medical circles, enjoys the esteem and affection of the people of his city. His practice is both extensive and lucrative. His fame has spread far beyond the limits of his own home and he is frequently called to distant points to hold consultations with other physicians in critical cases. Notwithstanding the time and energy which the faithful attendance of his large practice requires, Dr. Myers is not wholly confined to this one department ; he takes an active interest in many projects for the material and moral improvement of the city in which he has taken up his residence. He is prominent also as a politician, taking an active part in political manœuvring. In politics he is a Democrat and has filled several important offices. In 1873 he was elected member of the House of Representatives of the Legislature of Ohio and served two years ; in 1875 he was re-elected to the same office. He was appointed, in April, 1878, by Governor Bishop, Trustee of the Central Asylum, Columbus, Ohio, with a tenure of two years. He, also, served as Mayor and as Councilman of Ashland at various times, in all of which positions, it is said, he acquitted himself creditably. He was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention which nominated Cleveland for President, at Chicago, in 1892. On the 29th of April, 1893, he was nominated by the Democratic County Convention of Ashland county as a candidate for Probate Judge, and elected on the 9th of November. He is a model in physical stature ; not very tall, but broad shouldered, heavy set ; erect, and decidedly military in his bearing. The general cast of his countenance denotes firmness of purpose, and his manner is suggestive of a certain degree of aggressiveness—a quality inherited, probably, from his grandfather, Philip Meyer. It would not be advisable to presume on his good nature to an immoderate degree. Hair, dark ; eyes, blue.

ISSUE TWO :

- (1) Rena M. was born October 19, 1871.
- (2) Emma C. was born Sept. 14, 1873.

HENRY (Anna Margaret, Andrew.) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., near Freeburg (now), March 25, 1790 ; died March 11, 1862. He was married in 1816 to Barbara Foreman. She was born in York county, Pa., died April 23, 1885, aged 90 years and 20 days. Both are buried in the Evangelical Cemetery at Redhaw, Ohio. The family lived on a farm now owned by Jacob Brumgart, a mile east of Wolf's Store, Brush Valley, Centre county, Pa. ; it belonged formerly to Philip Meyer, Henry's father. The parents of Barbara Foreman lived a half mile north of the Meyer homestead. Henry sold his farm and moved to Ohio in 1832, but the new country did not suit him very well. After moving from place to place, he finally bought a farm a mile north of Redhaw. He erected a house on the tract, on the eastern slope of a steep hill, overlooking Redhaw Creek. The place no doubt reminded him of the steep hills which were a part of his home in Pennsylvania. He built a saw mill on his premises on the Redhaw Creek, and carried on lumber business on a small scale, besides attending to his farm. He became a member of the Evangelical Association while living in Pennsylvania, and after his settlement in Ohio, he did not neglect his religious duties. He donated, at Redhaw, sufficient ground for a church building and cemetery, and erected thereon a church almost entirely at his own expense. Subsequently after the old church had fulfilled its mission, he assisted in building the present house, the second on the ground. Henry was a large man, dark complexion, and possessed a kind, benevolent disposition.

There were nine children, six sons and three daughters.

I. GEORGE (Henry, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Brush Valley, Centre county, Pa., Aug. 7, 1814; married to Anna Herr. She was born April 17, 1817. The family lived on a farm about two miles south of West Salem, Ohio. George had erected a grist-mill on Muddy Fork Creek on his place and in partnership with his son Henry, carried on the milling business for a number of years. The enterprise, however, did not pay and the mill was torn down. George Shoup, formerly a noted millwright of Centre county, Pa., had performed the millwright work. Henry, with all his family, moved in April, 1887, to Virginia, and purchased a farm of 620 acres near Carson, Prince George County. He and his son are located on the tract and are engaged in farming. Henry mentions an interesting fact about the old "Family Clock," which bears repetition here: "My father is in possession of the old clock owned by his grandfather Philip Meyer, handed down to my grandfather's brother, Jacob, and when the latter died, it was given to my grandfather Henry. After his death my father got it, and we value it very highly.

ISSUE FIVE, three of whom died in infancy.

1. Henry was born Dec. 6, 1843; married to Catherine Breneman, West Salem, Ohio; lives, as already stated, near Carson, Va.

CHILDREN THREE :

- (1) Carrie.
- (2) Lavern.
- (3) Clarence.

2. Sarah was born Aug. 28, 1851; married to Harmon Smith, West Salem, Ohio, Sept. 7, 1870. They live at Carson, Va.

CHILDREN FIVE :

- (1) George.
- (2) Lulie.
- (3) Amy.
- (4) Owen.
- (5) Edward.

II. JOHN (Henry, Anna Margaret, Andrew,) was born in Brush Valley, Centre county, Pa., May 8, 1816; baptized July 21, 1816, by Rev. Yost Henry Fries, Reformed minister; died at West Salem, Ohio, of La Grippe, February 1, 1892. He was twice married: first, to Catherine Ann, daughter of Andrew and Elizabeth (Stover) Morr, by Rev. A. Shafer, in Wayne county, Ohio, June 7, 1837; second, to Mrs. Lovina Hoenshill. His first wife was born in Penn's Valley, Centre county, Pa., Oct. 27, 1818, and preceded her husband to the eternal world four years. The second wife is still living. The family first lived at Redhaw, Ohio, thence moved to West Salem. For many years, John Meyer (Myers) was the most prominent business man at West Salem. He dealt in grain and wool, principally. He was connected with banking interests and became a noted character in railroad circles. In after-life, business reverses, which were no fault of his, overtook him, and he relinquished mercantile pursuits, then followed farming until his decease. He laid out the southern part of West Salem, and was ever zealous in the promotion of any movement which had for its object the improvement of his town. It is said he embraced religion on the night of the great meteoric shower in 1833, and became a devoted member of the Evangelical Association soon after, contributing liberally toward the support of his chosen denomination and working faithfully and diligently for her welfare. The house of this couple was the preachers "rest;" in it was a preachers' room specially fitted up for their own use and it was never permitted to be desecrated by intrusion of any other person. John was strongly built physically; had dark hair; was pleasant and agreeable to all around him and had many friends. The writer had the pleasure of forming his acquaintance in June 1890, while attending a reunion of the "Morr Family" near West Salem.

ISSUE, with his first wife, FOUR:

1. Andrew Cornelius was born at Redhaw, Ohio, October 19, 1843; died December 28, 1846; buried at Redhaw.

2. William Nathaniel was born at Redhaw, Ohio, April 12, 1848; died May 14, 1868; buried at West Salem, Ohio.

CHAPTER V.

JOHN GEORGE MORR AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

John George Morr was the older of the two sons of Andrew Morr. He was born August 3, 1761; died October 18, 1817. He was young in years when the war of the Revolution began, and was among the first to show his patriotic ardor. In that period of our country's danger, he joined the army as a drummer boy, and went through the battle known as Chad's Ford along the Brandywine, September 11, 1777. The next important epoch in his life was his marriage with Catherine Dieffenbach. When he settled down in life, he directed his attention to farming. May 28, 1792, he purchased from Henry Miller a tract of land located in Potter township, Northumberland, now Haines township, Centre county, Pa., one mile north of Coburn Station on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad, consisting of 100 acres and 78 perches for which he paid £800. Mr. Miller died several months after the sale had been consummated, and his two sons, John and Joseph Miller, executors of their father's estate, gave a deed for it, bearing date February 10, 1794. At the time this purchase was made, Mr. Morr was a citizen of the present vicinity of Freeburg, Pa., but had moved on the premises just purchased before the deed was given. There was valuable timber on this tract, also a grist and saw-mill. Mr. Morr secured a patent for the deed May 12, 1804, and the property was called "Morr Hall." April 1, 1794, Mr. Morr sold this tract of land to John Kreighbaum, a citizen of Haines township, Northumberland county, Pa., and moved to Penn's township, near Freeburg, Pa. November 19, 1808, Mr. Morr repurchased the land from Mr. Kreighbaum, and in addition thereto bought another tract from the same person, containing $11\frac{3}{4}$ acres, paying for the aggregate 112 acres and 38 perches £1410. He, then, moved on these premises for the second time, where he engaged in farming and milling. To increase the volume of water he raised his mill dam in Pine Creek. This backed the water on his neighbor, Leonard Hostetter's land. A quarrel ensued and Mr. Hostetter threatened him, and it is said, lay in ambush to shoot him if he would not lower the dam. That he might carry on his business according to his plans, Mr. Morr purchased the Hostetter farm (May 28, 1813) at a fabulous price. The panic of 1815 came on which did not terminate until 1825. It drove Mr. Morr into insolvency and he was not the only one who suffered in this way. And no wonder. Wheat then sold at 50 cents per bushel; rye, 25 cents, and other products proportionately. George Meyer, of Haines township, became the purchaser of the original Morr farm in 1827.

The writer in company with Hon. Henry Meyer, Rebersburg, Centre county, Pa., author of The Meyer Genealogy, and Hon. Jacob G. Meyer, Aavonsberg, Pa., made a visit to the above named farm, September 7, 1892. On the original Morr farm, they saw a pear tree, a hundred years old, whose trunk measured $7\frac{1}{2}$ feet in circumference, and its height is supposed to be eighty feet. There were several pears on the topmost branches the day the visit was made. John George Morr's death took place near Freeburg, Pa., while he was visiting friends in that vicinity, and the interment was made in the cemetery near the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Morr were consistent members of the Lutheran Church. In the Church Records of the Morr Lutheran Congregation of Freeburg, Pa., a large number of names of children are given who were baptized in church from 1781 to 1809. John George Morr's name appears three times among those recorded as sponsors. He performed this duty at the following baptismal ceremonies: John Philip, son of George and Christina Roush (1783); John George, son of Philip and Anna Margaret Meyer (1784); his son, John Philip (1787.)

VII. ENOCH (George, John George, Andrew,) was born in Wayne county, Ohio, September 15, 1826; married to Rebecca Johnson of Wayne county, Ohio, February 5, 1852. She was born February 8, 1826. On March 20, 1850, in company with his cousin Michael (son of John Philip,) and nineteen other men from the neighborhood in which he lived (Wayne county, Ohio,) he started on an overland trip to California, going direct across the Continent from St. Joseph, Missouri, landing some fifty miles east of Sacramento, where they at once began digging for gold. They took the steamboat at Wellsville, Ohio, taking their wagons with them. On reaching St. Joseph, Missouri, they purchased seventeen yoke of oxen, paying from $55 to $80 per yoke. These they hitched on to four wagons. He relates many incidents of the hardships endured while on this trip: One night they drove a distance of 45 miles over the desert—a place entirely destitute of water, and not a particle of grass to be seen the whole distance. In August, they plunged into snow ten feet deep. This company was very fortunate, only one death occurred during their absence. They reached their destination on the 9th of August, 1850. Owing to illness, Enoch with two others left the company for home in October, 1851, coming by way of the Isthmus of Panama. On this journey, they tarried for one day at the Island of Cuba, thence sailed from Cuba to New York City, reaching home the last of December of the same year. They traveled from New York by rail, canal and stage. Enoch's brother Michael remained but a few months.

In 1852, Enoch bought a farm in DeKalb county, Indiana. He moved from Wayne county, Ohio, on this farm in 1854. His farm consists of a quarter section. When he took possession of it, it was but little improved. It consisted mostly of timber lands with a small cabin upon it. Here he lived until a year later, when he built a more spacious log house. For this land he paid $1,400. Here he has lived ever since. He is a member of the Dunkard Church.

She was of German parentage, born May 15, 1789; died at Moorland, Ohio, November 26, 1863. Both are buried at Moorland, Ohio. While living in Pennsylvania, John Philip was known as "Drummer Philip." He accompanied his brother George to Ohio in 1818. Each then purchased a quarter section (160 acres) of land at Moorland. George paid \$4.25 per acre for the land which he bought, while it is not known what John Philip had paid for his. A log cabin stood on the latter's premises, but George was obliged to build one immediately after he had taken possession of his farm. These cabins were about 16x20 feet, John Philip received a deed for his farm in 1824. November 28, 1835, a deed was given in full to his wife, Sarah, for $53\frac{1}{3}$ acres for \$160. The land was purchased from the Virginia Military School. The John Philip Morr homestead is now owned by five different parties. The west half of the quarter was owned by his youngest son, Michael, until his decease (1891), when George Morr, Michael's nephew, became the purchaser through his will.

She was born Oct. 11, 1828 ; died April 25, 1889 ; both are buried at Moorland, Ohio. Michael was a wagon maker by trade, but was mostly engaged in farming. He bought out four of the heirs of his father's estate, and from purchases of land at different times, he owned at the time of his death $193\frac{2}{3}$ acres. On his farm he erected a residence which was second to none in the county. Michael had no children of his own, but he and his wife were always very charitable to others. Over his wife's grave, Michael erected a monument costing \$500. July 20, 1889, he made a will, bequeathing all his estate to his nephew, George Morr, whom he raised, excepting \$400, which sum was distributed equally between his two nieces, Mrs. Ella Steinmetz, and Mrs. Emma Snyder.

JOHN (John George, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa.; died in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, June 23, 1845, aged 55 years and 9 months. He was one of the number who accompanied his brothers and sister to Ohio in 1828. Shortly before he emigrated to that State, however, he was married to Hannah Sunday, who also was a Pennsylvanian by birth. She died Aug. 7, 1870, aged 63 years, 3 months and 22 days. When Mr. Morr came to Ohio he moved on a farm of 113 acres, near Trinity Church, Ashland county, Ohio, for which he paid $500. While a resident of Pennsylvania, he followed the milling trade, but in Ohio his attention was directed chiefly to farming. He was a member of the Lutheran Church, and was a man of a quiet disposition. In conversation he said little, but thought much. Hannah, his widow, who had lived in widowhood for a quarter of a century, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alexander Gault, Ashland county, Ohio. Her remains were laid at rest in the cemetery at Trinity Church. Her husband is buried in the cemetery at Pleasant Valley (Mogle) Church, near Ashland, Ohio.

VII. ANDREW (John, John George, Andrew,) was born April 21, 1841; died at the residence of his brother George J., Jeromeville, Ohio, July 13, 1866; buried at Trinity Church.

MARY MAGDALENE (John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., in 1792; died at McComb, Hancock county, Ohio, September 13, 1860. She married Valentine Mogle,* while she yet lived in Pennsylvania. He was born in Centre county, Pa., July 20, 1790; died at McComb, Ohio, February 28, 1860; both are buried at McComb. She came with her husband to Ashland county, Ohio, in 1833, and located in Hancock county, Ohio, in 1852.

There were eleven children, five sons and six daughters.

I. CATHERINE (Mary Magdalene, John George, Andrew,) was

* Valentine Mogle was a man who found much pleasure in hunting over the mountains in Centre county, Pa., and when he became a citizen of Ohio he still followed this pursuit. He purchased a tract of land in Ashland county, Ohio, consisting of 160 acres, in 1833, and in the fall of the same year moved into the log house which he built during the previous summer. He was a plow maker by occupation. He was a member of the Lutheran Church. In 1840 a church was built on his lands. He was tall in stature, measuring 6 feet, 2 born at Millheim, Pa., October 1, 1815 ; died at McComb, Ohio, December 25, 1893 ; buried at McComb. She was married to John Kipp * in 1843. He died August 10, 1872 ; buried in old Mogle cemetery, Ashland county, Ohio. Catherine, accompanied by her daughter and family, moved to McComb, in 1882. In her family were found many interesting relics that had been a source of much pleasure to her, such as old china, that had once belonged to her grandmother, some of which is most artistically designed, while other pieces are very crude, indeed. A pepper-box still in use was noticed, while gathering these historical facts, that Catherine bought when a child. The price paid for it was 8 cents, an even exchange for two dozen of eggs which she carried to town. These relics cannot be purchased at any price ; her daughter and only heir, who is the possessor of them, treasures them as highly as her mother did. Catherine was a noble woman. She had a host of friends who knew and loved her.

ANDREW (John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Northumberland county, Pa., January 20, 1794 ; died in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, February 24, 1857 ; married to Elizabeth Stover in 1816. She was born in Penn's Valley, Northumberland county, Pa., June 11, 1796 ; died in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, November 6, 1876. At her death, Elizabeth left 63 grandchildren and 14 great grand children. Many will remember her for her charity and hospitality. She was an active and devoted Christian, enduring much labor for Christ. Mr. and Mrs. Morr are buried in the cemetery at Trinity Church, six miles east of Ashland. After Andrew Morr had settled up his father's estate he, in company with his brother Michael, visited his brothers George and John Philip, at Moorland, Wayne county, Ohio. The visit was made in the Autumn of 1827, and they walked from Pennsylvania to Ohio, carrying their grips with them. Each bought a farm six miles east of Ashland, paying from three to four dollars per acre. May 1, 1828, Andrew and Michael, with their families, left Pennsylvania for their new home; the land they had purchased then lying in Wayne and Richland counties. It is now known as Perry township, *Ashland county, Ohio. They drove to Ohio with their teams, reaching their destination on the 22nd of May. In this tedious journey, they were accompanied by their widowed mother, their brothers John and Benjamin with their families, Peter and Samuel, then single, and their sister Elizabeth, the future Mrs. Jacob Albright. On Andrew Morr's farm were two log cabins and a log barn with a clay floor. Andrew and his family lived in one of these cabins; the mother, Elizabeth, Peter and Samuel occupied the other.

The Morrs who came from Pennsylvania were old Lutherans. The country into which they had first located was comparatively new, and no church of any denomination was within five miles of their home. Three years after they had located, Rev. Charles Hammer, a missionary of the Evangelical Association from Pennsylvania, visited the locality wherein they had settled, with a view of converting the people into that faith. Mr. Hammer preached German in a dwelling adjoining the farm of Andrew Morr. To this place Mr. and Mrs. Morr went to worship. Through the efforts of the missionary they were converted and became members of the Evangelical Association. Andrew Morr lived to see all his children become members of this church and they have remained faithful and energetic workers. After his conversion. Mr. Morr opened his house as a place of public worship. It was such from 1832 to 1849, the latter being the year when Trinity Church was erected. He served as Class Leader in this church for twenty-four consecutive years. He was the first Superintendent of the Sunday School before Trinity Church was built. At that time the Sunday School was held in a log barn during the summer season. For a number of years he filled the position of Township Trustee. Considering his many disadvantages he acquired considerable learning in English and German. He was a good mathematician and close Bible student. Three years prior to his death he became blind. He was a captain of a militia company in Centre county, Pa. While a resident of Pennsylvania, Andrew Morr and his brother John had charge of a grist mill, saw-mill and carding mill. These stood on his father's premises along Pine Creek. The family was blessed with unusually good health. But two of their twelve children died within a period of forty years and eight months. Andrew died May 6, 1847, aged 23, their daughter Catherine passed away January 4, 1888, having almost completed her three score and ten years.

There were twelve children, seven sons and five daughters.

I. JACOB (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., June 21, 1817; married to Sarah Dundor, Aug. 27, 1840. She was born in the city of Reading, Pa., Oct. 18, 1822; died in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, of heart failure, May 3, 1894; buried at Trinity Church. She was a noble woman; kind, affable and affectionate in her disposition. After their marriage, the couple moved on a farm a short distance from his father's home. Some time after the latter's death Jacob returned to the old homestead which he has occupied ever since. Here his mother had her home until her death. Jacob is the owner of two farms, consisting of 222 acres, 110 of which belonged to the old homestead. He has held responsible positions in the Evangelical Association for forty years. He is whole-souled, generous, and has always lived a sincere and pious life. His house has been recognized as the "preacher's house" for many years. At this writing, June, 1894, he is the oldest Morr living and is yet hale and hearty. Jacob was formerly a Democrat, but since 1880 has been an active worker of the Prohibition Party.

He was born in Miles township, Centre county, Pa., May 9, 1816 ; died of La Grippe at West Salem, Ohio, February 1, 1892 ; both are buried in the cemetery at West Salem, Ohio. At the age of twelve years, Catherine was converted in her father's house, and in early life became a member of the Evangelical Association. In her girlhood days, homespun clothing was worn, and her older sisters devoted their time to spinning and weaving flax and wool. Woolen cloth was made by the bolt, and often colored with the hulls of walnuts. With these goods the male portion of the family were clothed. Catherine possessed a strong constitution and was a perfect type of womanhood, notwithstanding her many hardships of pioneer life. Two months previous to her death, she exhibited her devotion to her church by giving through her will $1,000 toward the erection of a new church edifice at West Salem. They had four children, for a list of them see page 116.

III. CHRISTINA (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born July 14, 1821 : married to Henry Shisler, of Washington county, Pa., Aug. 26, 1841. He was a Virginian by birth. V. ANDREW (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., September 26, 1823 ; died May 6, 1847. He was married to Catherine Myers, a Morr descendant, a granddaughter of Anna Margaret Morr, married to Philip Meyer. See page 71. She was born December 11, 1827. Andrew is buried in Pleasant Valley (Mogle) Cemetery, east of Ashland. His death occurred two years after the couple had been married and the farm upon which he and his father-in-law lived, had been purchased but a short time previous to his demise. Andrew was nearly six feet in height, a man of unusual strength. After his death his widow married Jacob Poorman. For additional information see page 129.

VI. ELIAS (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., August 25, 1825; married to Sarah Myers, daughter of Jacob Myers, (page—), Oct. 6, 1851. She was born in Miles township, Centre county, Pa., August 14, 1830. For eighteen months the couple lived in Ashland county, Ohio, thence they moved to Worthington township, Richland county, Ohio, where they lived seven years. At the expiration of this time, they located in the vicinity of North Liberty, Knox county, Ohio, where for seven years Mr. Morr had an interest in a flouring mill and also worked on his farm. Thence the family returned to Richland county, and in 1870 to Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, where they have since resided. Mr. Morr has been farming ever since, and at intervals works at carpentering—a trade which he acquired a quarter of a century ago. Mr. Morr united with the Evangelical Association in 1851; Mrs. Morr joined the same church previous to her marriage. In this church Mr. Morr has filled all the offices with the exception of sexton and preacher. His post-office address is Redhaw, Ashland county, Ohio. The reader will refer to page 110 for a list of their children.

VII. ELIZABETH (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., April 12, 1827. She was married to George Myers, who was born in Centre county, Pa., November 12, 1822. Elizabeth was but one year old when she came to Ohio with her parents. Her marriage with Mr. Myers took place when she was twenty-two years of age. Additional history of this family will be found on pages 103-8.

VIII. SAMUEL (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, May 13, 1829; married

Maria Keifer, November 16, 1854. The couple located at North Liberty, Knox county, Ohio, where they lived ten years, in which locality Samuel was engaged at farming. At the expiration of this time Mr. Morr sold his farm, and moved to Huntington, Huntington county, Indiana. In 1870, he sold his farm in that State, and returned to Ohio, locating in the vicinity of Columbus Grove. Since then, with the exception of eight years when the family lived in Hancock county, Ohio, their home is three miles east of Columbus Grove. Samuel first united with the Evangelical Association, and afterwards became a member of the United Brethren Church. His conversion with the former denomination took place at the age of 15. Mr. and Mrs. Morr are devoted Christians, and have done much in support of their church. Mr. Morr has served as class leader for twenty-three years.

ISSUE NINE :

1. Josiah F. was born near North Liberty, Ohio, May 14, 1856 ; married to Mirean A. Smith, Huntington, Indiana, May 10, 1883 ; buried at Columbus Grove. IX. JOHN PHILIP (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, April 28, 1831. Oct. 26, 1858, he was married to Margaret R. Myers, daughter of Samuel Myers (see page 131). She was born Nov. 24, 1832; died near West Salem, Ohio, Feb. 12, 1866; buried in cemetery at West Salem, April 10, 1867. He was married to Sarah Krumrine, daughter of Rev. Adam Henry. At the age of 19, Mr. Morr learned carpentering with his brother Elias. This vocation he followed for ten years, and in connection with it attended school, also spent some time in teaching during the winter. In 1857, he entered the mercantile business with the firm of Myers & Henney, West Salem, where he remained until 1861. It was during this time that his first marriage took place. He resided on a farm near West Salem for fifteen years, and in 1876, became a resident of the town, where he has since lived. He devotes his time to horticulture and has a fine nursery. He, also, sells in his neighborhood agricultural implements for the firm of F. E. Myers & Brother, Ashland, Ohio. He is an intelligent, genial, social, witty gentleman, and in the social circle his hearty, ringing laugh is often heard. He is a devoted member of the Evangelical Association and for twenty-five years has held the position as Recording Steward. In this church, too, he has contributed liberally, making many sacrifices. Politically, he is a Republican.

X. HENRY W. (Andrew, John George, Andrew,) was born in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, Nov. 25, 1833; married to Sarah Snyder, Nov. 30, 1855. She was born at Jeromeville, Ohio, Jan. 1, 1833. When Mr. Morr was 19 years of age he was apprenticed to a carpenter at $30 a year. In March, 1856, he moved near North Liberty, Knox county, Ohio, having previously purchased a tract of land in that locality. The first $100 of his earnings were appropriated toward the payment of it. Through his own efforts, assisted by his brothers Elias and Samuel, who then lived in the same neighborhood, a congregation of the Evangelical Association was organized at North Liberty. Their houses were opened for public worship, and remained so for several years until a church was built. Their zeal and devotion to the church was perpetuated by members long after they had moved away ; for this church has outlived all other denominations in that vicinity. Mr. Morr moved with his family to West Salem in 1866, where he has been engaged at lumbering. He and his nephew, Oliver F. Morr, were partners in a planing mill five years. He is the owner of several town properties in West Salem and has a small farm near the town. Mr. and Mrs. Morr have been members of the Evangelical Association since 1853. Mr. Morr has served as an official in that church for twenty-six consecutive years. He is an intelligent, kind hearted, generous, well-informed, thorough, sociable, noble specimen of manhood, and a worthy citizen.

X. EMANUEL (Benjamin, John George, Andrew).

XI. INFANT (Benjamin, John George, Andrew).

MICHAEL (John George, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., October 2, 1796 ; died June 10, 1877. He was married to Christina Stover, sister to his brother Andrew's wife, who was a native of Centre county, Pa. Christina died in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio, December 9, 1845, aged 45 years and ten months. He emigrated with his mother's family, as previously stated, in 1828, locating in the locality where he died. Here he purchased a farm of 127 acres. He was a man of great energy, and it was not long until his farm was much improved. During the militia days, Michael played the snare drum ; his brother Peter played the fife, and his brother Samuel the clarionet in the township in which they lived, where they had drills under the old martial law. While living in Pennsylvania, Michael had joined the Lutheran Church. He remained a member of this denomination for twenty years, serving for a time as deacon and elder. During this period he assisted in building a church. Five years previous to his death he united with the Evangelical Association.

There were eight children, four sons and four daughters.

VII. HENRY (Michael, John George, Andrew,) was born May 30, 1838 ; married to Sarah Schnader. She was born at Farmersville, Pa. At the time of her marriage (1863) she was a resident of Ashland county, Ohio. After working at carpentering four years, Henry engaged in farming. In 1864, he enlisted as a soldier in the late war being a member of Company A, 66th Regiment, O. V. I. His regiment arrived at Atlanta, Georgia, about ten days prior to the time Sherman began his "March to the Sea." It is said he braved his march through with manly fortitude until the end of the journey, when he became fatigued. He was placed in the hospital at Savannah for three months. After his recovery he entered upon his duties as nurse. He came back with Sherman to Richmond, thence to Washington. He was at the Government Review May 24, 1865. He received an honorable discharge at Bladensburg, Virginia, June 9, 1865. He relates many anecdotes as to how he engaged in huckstering while lying for further orders at Savannah—buying apples from off the vessels at $38 per barrel, and selling them at the rate of six for one dollar. Soon after his return from the army, he purchased a farm near Rowsburg, Ohio, where he still lives. Henry has been a member of the Evangelical Association since 1861. He is a member of Smalley Post 607, Rowsburg.

JOHN ADAM (John, George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., Sept. 11, 1798; died March 15, 1880; married to Sarah, daughter of John Harter, Penn's Valley, Centre county, Pa. She was born Nov. 8, 1880; died July 12, 1884. Both are buried in the Union Cemetery, Millheim, Pa. John Adam Morr's father, as the reader has doubtless noticed elsewhere, lived in Haines township, Penn's Valley, Centre county, Pa., at what is now Moyer's Mill. He served the trade as a gunsmith and followed his occupation in Millheim, where he lived all his lifetime. He was an excellent mechanic, and Mrs. Michael Ulrich, of Millheim, with whom the couple spent their last days, takes pleasure in showing a leather gauge and cutter, which is a model of its kind, which Mr. Morr made when he was seventy-five years old. Mr. Morr was a member of the Lutheran Church; his wife a member of the United Brethren Church. Mr. Morr lived in Ohio for about two years while he was single (aged then twenty years), and assisted his brother George to clear a farm. The subject of this sketch was a good citizen and universally respected. He was one of those honest, reliable Pennsylvania Germans, noted for their industry, economy and neighborly qualities. The couple had no children. Mr. Morr died of paralysis after an illness of about six weeks.

DANIEL (John George, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., in 1802; died in Ashland county, Ohio, June 19, 1867, aged 65 years. He was married to Eve Swartz who was a native of Centre county, Pa. She died at the age of 57, December, 1866. Daniel Morr emigrated to Ohio in 1833. He was a noted musician, being quite an expert in playing the flute, fife, clarionet and snare drum. His occupation was that of a millwright. In early manhood, he became a member of the Lutheran Church and later on of the Evangelical Association. At the time of his death he had fifty grand children and twenty-one great grand children.

There were thirteen children, seven sons and six daughters.

I. SAMUEL D. (Daniel, John George, Andrew,) was born on the banks of the Elk Creek, near Millheim, Pa., Feb. 15, 1829. In 1833, he moved with his parents to Ashland county, Ohio, and on February 6, 1851, was married to Mary Myers. See page 130. She was born in Nittany Valley, Centre county, Pa., Dec. 25, 1830; died in Ashland county, Ohio, February 11, 1890. Samuel D. Morr followed farming during the greater portion of his life, but for some years he has lived in retirement. He is the owner of three excellent farms in Perry township, Ashland county, Ohio. He is an earnest worker in the Evangelical Church of which denomination he has been a member for many years. To him the writer is indebted for the information given of his father's family. For a list of Samuel's children the reader will refer to page 130.

II. CATHERINE (Daniel, John George, Andrew,) was born along Elk Creek, near Millheim, Pa., March 31, 1830. She came to Ashland county, Ohio, in 1833, where she died April 24, 1889. She had been married to Henry Weaver. * In the Spring succeeding the marriage, she and her husband moved to Toledo, Iowa. They, however, returned to Ashland county, Ohio, sometime during the year 1864, where Catherine had resided to the time of her death. She united with the Evangelical Association in her youth and remained a worthy member during life. She is buried at Trinity Church, Ashland, county, Ohio. The ground upon which this church stands, and of which the cemetery is a

* Henry Weaver left his home at Toledo, Iowa, for the seat of war in 1862. He enlisted in Company P, I. V. I., as a private. Before his Company had left the State, however, he was promoted as Quarter Master Sergeant. At Vicksburg, Mississippi, he received another promotion, that of Second Lieutenant, and at New Orleans, Louisiana, January, 1864, he was promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant. He resigned from service on account of wounds received at Cedar Creek, Virginia, May 19, 1864, and returned home via Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

ELIZABETH (John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., April 18, 1804; died in Wayne township, Wayne county, Ohio, January 15, 1876. She was married to Jacob Albright* October 18, 1828. Mr. Albright was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa. ; died at Wooster, Ohio, June 9, 1884, aged 81 years, 4 months and 22 days ; both are buried at Wooster, Ohio. The Albright family lived close neighbors to the Morris in Pennsylvania. Before they emigrated to Ohio, Jacob Albright and Elizabeth Morr were engaged. Mr. Albright emigrated to Ohio just a short time previous to his marriage. The couple first located at Wooster, where Mr. Albright worked at gunsmithing, retailing groceries and brewing. In the meantime he purchased a farm of 132 acres belonging to the family estate. He afterwards purchased 80 acres adjoining this, making a farm of 212 acres. In 1840, the family moved on this farm, a mile south of Wooster. In 1830, Mr. Albright bought a lot in Wooster, the tax upon which then amounted to 30 cents. The property afterwards enhanced in value and the taxes afterwards ranged as high as $300. Shortly before Mr. Albright's death a disposition of the property was made. The farm of 212 acres was divided into three equal parts. His son Andrew received the south third, Noah the north third, and his daughter Elizabeth, the middle third upon which the dwelling stood. Ohio received the town property, and Mary's inheritance was paid in cash. Andrew at once proceeded to build a residence on his portion of the farm, and Noah improved his premises in a similar manner some years later. Mr. and Mrs. Albright were members of the Lutheran church.

There were eight children, four sons and four daughters.

*Mr. Albright was the inventor of a stump puller which he frequently used to pull the stumps on his own farm. His masterpiece of workmanship was a gun made of curly maple. On it was an engraving of a fox-chase, inlaid in gold and silver. The weapon was beautifully carved with silver and gold trimmings. He took the gun to Washington and showed it to President Jackson. He sold it to a government official for $150 with instructions that he was to place it on exhibition there. The gun was valued at $400, but it was considerably damaged at one time while Mr. Albright was defending himself against a vicious dog. Jacob Albright was a man of fine physique and strong personal character.

PETER (John George, Andrew,) was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., January 15, 1806; died of paralysis at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jacob Link, at Auburn Junction, Indiana, June 19, 1877. He was married to Elizabeth Wise, of Wayne county, Ohio. She was born March 30, 1808; died April 12, 1879. After the death of her husband she lived with her daughter, Mrs. Link, but her death occurred while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Adam Carper, in DeKalb county, Indiana. Both are buried in the cemetery in sight of the Peter Morr homestead. Mr. Morr accompanied his brother Samuel on a visit to DeKalb county, Indiana, in 1851. Samuel had purchased a farm in Indiana during the previous year, and when he moved with his family to that State, Peter went with him and subsequently purchased a quarter section of land for $1,500, adjoining his brother's farm, which lay to the south: the section line between them. As soon as Peter had made this purchase, he returned to his home in Ashland county, Ohio, and soon thereafter moved with his wife and six children to Indiana: two of his children having died previous to their removal (1852.)

On Peter Morr's farm were two log cabins. His oldest daughter, Mrs. Jacob Link, moved into one of them; the family of Mr. Morr occupied the other. Here Mr. Morr lived until 1872, when he purchased a good frame school-house. This was remodelled and moved upon his farm, when it was used as a dwelling. An acre of ground on the northeast corner of Mr. Morr's farm was set apart for a cemetery, and directly opposite on the southeast corner of his brother Samuel's farm an acre of land was set apart for a church. A Presbyterian church was soon erected. The Morr families worshiped here, although not members of this denomination. They were members of the Reformed Church. In the course of time a school-house was built by this church. It was the same school-house which Peter Morr had bought for a dwelling. At his death, Mr. Morr's farm was equally divided among his five children. Two of his sons, George and Frederick, still hold their respective interests.

There were eight children.

CHAPTER VII.

PHILIP MORR AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Philip Morr was the younger of the two sons of Andrew Morr. He was born Jan 1, 1766 ; died of hemorrhage of the lungs, April 13, 1826. He lived in what was known as the Morr homestead, where he was engaged in farming. He kept store in one of the apartments of the old log house built by his father. In 1813, Governor Simon Snyder, who was an intimate friend of Philip's father, appointed Philip Morr, with Daniel Caldwell and Frederick Gutelius a Board of County Commissioners for the county of Union, a new county, just formed out of part of Northumberland. The Act for its erection passed the Legislature March 22d of the same year, and the territory embraced that part of Northumberland county lying west of the Susquehanna river. The County Commissioners entered upon the duties of their office November 11. The Courts were held at Mifflinburg until the Board decided that New Berlin, the most central town in the county, should be the county seat. Here justice was dispensed for forty-two years, or to the time (1855), when Snyder county was carved out of Union. Philip Morr retired from the office as County Commissioner after one year's service.

Philip Morr was the owner of considerable real estate located within the present limits of the counties of Snyder, Centre and Lycoming, Pa., and like his brother, John George Morr, passed through a severe panic. To meet the obligations incurred by the purchase of the real estate, he sold a large grist mill, together with several hundred acres of land on Middlecreek, to Jacob K. Boyer, of Reading, Pa., for $10,000. This was considered a good sale and he might easily have paid his debts had he not been swindled. The swindle happened in this wise : Some time after the sale of this property Mr. Morr traveled to Reading on horseback, the custom of the period, in order to have a settlement with Boyer. The distance was ninety miles and the journey was made in one day. No sooner had he stated the object of his visit when he was handed a paper for his signature. He was informed it was a receipt for $100 and the balance would be paid him in a short time. Mr. Morr, who was unable to read English, had implicit confidence in Boyer that he was dealing fairly and honestly with him, signed the paper and returned home in good cheer. Some time afterward Mr. Morr repeated his visit to Boyer only to learn how the latter had swindled him. When he made his demands for the amount due him he was frankly informed that the paper he had signed during his previous visit to Reading was not for the $100 which he received but "in full for all demands." A lawsuit followed, but the receipt which Mr. Morr had signed was produced in evidence against him and he lost his case. This threw Mr. Morr into financial embarrassment, necessitating the selling of his vast estate which all passed into strange hands, excepting the old homestead near Freeburg which was purchased by his son John Jacob Morr. Philip Morr became greatly distressed through his misfortune and passed many sleepless nights in consequence. In May, 1829, several years after Mr. Morr's death, this same Boyer, who had dealt so dishonestly with him, came to grief. "Jacob K. Boyer, of Reading," says Linn's Annals of Buffalo Valley, "who had done a large mercantile business and bought a great deal of wheat through Buffalo Valley, was convicted of passing counterfeit money. He was said, by the district attorney, to be guilty of the most expert, extensive and wholesale counterfeiting ever known in the United States."

Philip Morr's death was sudden. He was a member of the Lutheran Church, buried in the Morr Cemetery. He was twice married. His first wife was Elizabeth Gemberling, who resided in that portion of Northumberland county, Pa., now known as the vicinity of Salem, Snyder county, Pa., She came from a family that was one of the earliest settlers of that neighborhood. She had inherited a strong, robust constitution, yet death claimed her as a victim in the very prime of life. In the Morr Cemetery a tombstone bears the following inscription: "Here rest the mortal remains of Elizabeth Morr, wife of Philip Morr, a born Gemberling, was born July 13, 1768; died Aug. 11, 1811, aged 43 years and 28 days." His second wife was Mrs. Mary Ebly, of Sunbury, Pa., who remained his widow a brief period, then married Jacob Kline. She died a widow while living at Freeburg, Pa., November 20, 1856, aged 79 years, 9 months and 22 days. She is buried in the Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery at Freeburg.

PHILIP (Philip, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., in 1788, died in the same locality, then known as Washington township, Union county, Pa., July, 1824. He followed farming for a livelihood, and for a number of years resided on his father's farm along the Middlecreek. His untimely death was not the result of some disease, but accidental, and happened in this way : His father was the owner of a vicious horse. The son thinking he could cure the animal of its pernicious habit of kicking, hitched it to a plow for the purpose of working his corn land. The animal frequently became stubborn which so much aggravated Philip that he resorted to a plan to punish it. The method adopted was by fastening one end of a heavy chain across the horse's neck, the other across a log in the old log stable. Being now assured that the beast was unable to loosen itself he proceeded to give it a severe threshing. He applied the lash but once when he received a severe blow upon the breast, killing him instantly. When the news of his death was circulated it caused great excitement and deep regret. He is buried in the Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery at Freeburg, but his grave is unmarked. He was married to Elizabeth Lotz, New Berlin, Pa., who remained his widow to the time of her death (May 18, 1873,) covering a period of 50 years less two months. She spent her days in widowhood at Freeburg, and died at the ripe age of 84 years, 9 months and 1 day. She is buried by the side of her husband. She was a member of the Reformed Church.

There were six daughters :

I. CATHERINE (Philip, Philip, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg, Pa., February 23, 1811 : died at Nora, Jo Daviess county, Illinois, October 23, 1888. In 1835, she was married to Samuel Smeck, after which they located in Nippenose Valley, Lycoming county, Pa., who, through incessant toil and practical economy, secured for themselves a comfortable home, and were counted among the prosperous farmers in the Valley. As the years sped along they sold their farm, and in 1864 emigrated to Illinois. A year later they moved on a fine farm at Nora, Illinois, where they spent their remaining years. In her early life, Catherine was a devoted member of the Lutheran Church, and twenty-seven years prior to her death she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which she lived and died a consistent and honored christian. For two years previous to her death she had been a great sufferer, and had it not been for the devotion of loving friends to cheer and comfort her and a blessed hope of a glorious immortality, her life on earth during this period would have been one of continued gloom and shadows. Notwithstanding that her mind was bodily affected by sickness, she would always converse intelligently upon the subject of religion and her hope in Christ. October 25, 1888, her remains were interred in the beautiful cemetery at Warren, Illinois. In her death she left an aged companion, five children, two having preceded her to the eternal world, seventeen grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, three sisters and many friends.

II. MARY (Philip, Philip, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg, Pa., May 23, 1813. She spent the greater portion of her life in the vicinity of her birth. She was married to Henry Wolf, a carpenter and farmer who departed this life March 22, 1884, aged 69 years, 14 days; buried in the Morr Cemetery near Freeburg, Pa. Since the death of her husband she had her home in and around Freeburg, and also with her son Daniel near Mexico, Pa., where she moved in August, 1894. She is a member of the Reformed Church.

The greater portion of Sarah's life was spent at Freeburg. She and her sister Elizabeth, both single, lived with their mother until her death, May 18, 1873. After her death they remained at Freeburg until the fall of 1874, when they moved to their sister Catherine's home at Nora, Illinois. Sarah had not returned to her former home since her departure. Regarding her death and burial, Mrs. Geo. C. Moyer, of Freeburg, Pa., received the following intelligence from a letter written by her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Morr, who then lived at Union, Cass county, Michigan : "Sister Sarah suffered a good deal the last few days she lived. She was buried by the side of her sister Catherine Smeck, at Warren, Illinois, May 28, 1891. She had a nice Christian burial." She was a member of the Lutheran Church.

IV. MARGARET (Philip, Philip, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg, Pa., October 9, 1819; died at Naperville, Illinois, January 1, 1888. Margaret moved west the time (1864) when her sister Catherine located in Illinois. She was twice married: First to Elijah Steese; second to James Hood. Her second husband died eight months after her decease. Margaret was the mother of four children—two sons and two daughters.

V. AMELIA (Philip, Philip, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg, Pa., March 2, 1820; died at Northumberland, Pa., April 9, 1887. She was married to Peter Brouse. Mr. Brouse was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., September 18, 1809; died at Northumberland, Pa., March 30, 1889. He was a broom maker by occupation. This couple was married in 1838. For twelve years after marriage they lived near Northumberland, and April 1, 1850, moved into that town. Both were members of the Reformed Church; buried in the cemetery at Northumberland.

VI. ELIZABETH (Philip, Philip, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg, Pa., October 17, 1822. As mentioned in the sketch of Sarah Morr, Elizabeth moved to Nora, Illinois, in 1874. For nearly nineteen years she had lived in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. She returned to the home of her nativity July 5, 1893; died from consumption at Freeburg, Dec. 13, 1894. Interment in Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery at Freeburg.

SARAH (Philip, Andrew,) was born February 13, 1790; died in infancy.

MICHAEL (Philip, Andrew,) was born June 12, 1791; died November 17, 1794.

CATHERINE (Philip, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., September 1, 1793; died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. C. Moyer, Freeburg, Pa., of pneumonia, April 24, 1856. Catherine was an amiable woman, and gave promise of a life of great longevity, but her life was somewhat shortened from a strain which she received about twenty years previous to her death. She had a very good memory, and remembered everything what she read over. Her education was principally German. A German Bible and a German work on "True Christianity" were her daily companions. Her Sundays were not spent in idleness, but she sought to improve "the day of rest" in the study of God's Word, and still found time to attend worship in the sanctuary. She was a consistent member of the Lutheran Church to which she had connected herself in her youth. Catherine's first husband was John Michael Fisher. The marriage ceremony took place May 16, 1813. Mr. Fisher died July 23, 1820. His death was the result of a bath in the Middlecreek when overheated. He was aged 30 years, 10 months and 27 days. Her second husband was John Stahley, Selin's Grove, Pa. They lived happily together for twenty-five years. Mr. Stahley died September 20, 1849, and is buried in the old Lutheran Cemetery at Selin's Grove. Catherine spent the remaining years of her life with her daughters—the Summer with Eliza at Freeburg, Pa., the Winter with Amelia at Montgomery's Ferry, Pa., March 16, 1856, she took her departure from the latter place for the last time. Shortly before leaving she contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia and her earthly existence soon terminated. In her affliction she was resigned to the will of Him "who doeth all things well." She is buried in the Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery, Freeburg, by the side of husband, John Michael Fisher, and her son Isaac.

There were four children, two sons and two daughters.

1. AMELIA (Catherine, Philip, Andrew,) was born May 23, 1814; died at Montgomery's Ferry, Pa., Jan. 19, 1872. She was married to John Adam Hilbish, Nov. 26, 1835. He was born at Freeburg, Pa., Jan. 1, 1814; died at Montgomery's Ferry, Pa., March 8, 1850. Both are buried in the old Lutheran

ANNA MARY (Philip, Andrew,) was born near Freeburg,

Pa., March 10, 1797 ; died at the home of her son Aaron Newton Missimer at Salladasburg, Pa., November 20, 1871. She was married to Aaron Missimer, May 1, 1814. He was born at Pottstown, Pa., April 11, 1790 ; died near Jersey Shore, Pa., June 2, 1854. Both are buried in the Jersey Shore Cemetery. This couple lived at Freeburg until the fall of 1824, when they moved on a tract of land, consisting of 200 acres, a short distance east of Jersey Shore, Pa. The land was deeded to Anna Mary by her father under the provision that it would be cleared of its timber, and brought under cultivation. Mr. Missimer followed farming a short time, but being of a mechanical turn of mind he directed his attention to such pursuits as a cooper, wheelwright, and plasterer ; the latter trade he was engaged in until within a short period of his death. He was a strict temperance man. Mr. and Mrs. Missimer were members of the Lutheran Church.

There were thirteen children, five sons and eight daughters.

I. Harriet (Ann, Mary, Philip, Andrew,) was born March 20, 1815 ; died in Anthony township, Lycoming county, Pa., January 11, 1887 ; buried in Jersey Shore Cemetery. She was married to Joshua Minsker, May 12, 1838. He was born in Clark's Valley, Dauphin county, Pa., September 21, 1816. Mr. Minsker came with his parents to Mosquito Valley, Lycoming county, Pa., in 1826. Since the death of his wife he has his home with his son-in-law, Mr. Thomas Harris, in Anthony township, Lycoming county, Pa., where he has lived since his marriage. For some time he had been the owner of 600 acres of land, the greater portion of which he disposed to Mr. Harris. Before her death, Mrs. Minsker suffered severely. Her sickness began with rheumatism, which subsequently turned into gangrene. In her afflictions she was entirely helpless. She was a devoted member of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Minsker is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

He was married to Catherine Antes. She was born in Nippenose township, Lycoming county, Pa., December 26, 1819. Mr. Missimer was a plasterer by trade, which vocation he followed for many years. At the time of his death the following obituary notice appeared in the Jersey Shore Herald : "Mr. Joshua Missimer, a well known and highly respected citizen of Jersey Shore, died Saturday morning, September 26, 1891, between 5 and 6 o'clock, aged 74 years, 10 months and 2 days. Mr. Missimer resided for many years in this vicinity, and for the past ten years was toll-gate keeper at the Jersey Shore bridge. His strict integrity and faithful performance of his duty won the admiration of all who knew him. He was a consistent member of the English Lutheran Church, an industrious citizen, a kind husband and father, and an obliging, peaceable neighbor. After a useful life, he has passed to the reward of the finally faithful. He leaves an aged wife and three children to mourn his sudden departure. The resolutions passed at the meeting of the directors of the Jersey Shore Bridge Company, held Thursday, October 1, and published elsewhere in the Herald, relative to the services and death of their late toll-gate keeper, Joshua Missimer, deceased, are a befitting and proper testimony to an honest, good man. Mr. Missimer did not possess much of this world's goods, but he was faithful and honest in the discharge of every trust reposed in him, and in that he leaves a priceless legacy to those who mourn his sudden death. No greater honor could be shown any man."

VI. PHILIP MORR (Ann Mary, Philip, Andrew,) was born in what is known as Nippenose Bottom, Lycoming county, Pa., July 26, 1825 ; died at Jersey Shore, Pa., August 14, 1868. He married Harriet Hall Rigel, February 17, 1848. She was born on Hall's Island, Lycoming county, Pa., May 23, 1830. Both are buried in the Jersey Shore Cemetery. At the age of 16, Mr. Missimer learned blacksmithing at Jersey Shore with Mr. Junod. The shop stood where Thomas Woddl's residence now stands. After completing his trade, he worked as a journeyman for his brother-in-law Ebenezer White. Shortly after his marriage he moved with his family to Centreville, St. Joseph county, Michigan. They were accompanied by the families of Ebenezer White and Charles Boyer. As there were no railroads then, the journey of about 600 miles was made in covered wagons. It required six weeks to reach their destination. The family suffered much from malarial fever, and after several months' sojourn at that place, they moved to Three Rivers, Michigan, thinking that a change of place might improve their health. This did not, however, prove favorable, and in three years after their departure for the west they returned to their native home. After locating at Jersey Shore, Mr. Missimer entered into co-partnership with William Hartranft in blacksmithing. This proved a lucrative business for a number of years. Mr. Missimer built a large residence on corner of Main and Nelson Streets into which the family moved in the Spring of 1865. December 29, 1866, while shoeing a mule for Samuel Gray, he received a sprain in the elbow joint of his right arm from which a cancerous tumor grew to the size of nearly a man's head. Physicians tried to save his arm, but amputation became necessary one year after the accident had occurred. He visited Dr. Grose at Philadelphia, who amputated the limb above the shoulder joint. But this did not alleviate his sufferings. These though severe he bore with christian resignation, and awaited his appointed time to the end. In 1854, Mr. and Mrs. Missimer united with the Baptist Church.

She was born near Freeburg, Pa., May 24, 1807 ; died January 2, 1864. Both are buried in the Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery, Freeburg. John Jacob Morr received a liberal education, and was a very useful citizen. He served as Justice of the Peace for twenty-five consecutive years, and died in office. He was a plain, unassuming, quiet man, and his superior judgment brought him business from other localities. He wrote all deeds, agreements, leases, etc., in a fair, legible hand ; there were no printed forms then. He occupied the Morr farm, having purchased it from his father. He was kind hearted, jovial, and enjoyed the companionship of his friends. He had black eyes, dark hair and was very erect. He died after a brief illness in the midst of his usefulness.

There were fifteen children, nine sons and six daughters.

CHAPTER VIII.

CATHERINE ELIZABETH MORR.

Catherine Elizabeth Morr was the sixth of the children of Andrew Morr. She was born on Christmas Day, 1768. She was married to Michael Weaver. The couple first lived in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., and afterwards in Straubstown, or Freeburg. Later on they moved to Canton, Ohio. In what year this occurred is not known definitely. Mr. Weaver is classed among the residents of Straubstown in 1802, the number then being eighteen, when the town was but six years old. As his name is dropped from the list afterwards, this or the following must have been the year when they located at Canton. At this place they lived until their demise. Catherine was blind some years prior to her death. The writer made repeated efforts in obtaining a more complete sketch of this family, but all attempts in doing so proved fruitless. It is not known whether they had any children.

CHAPTER IX.

JULIA MORR AND HER DESCENDANTS.

Julia Morr, seventh child of Andrew Morr, was born July 18, 1770 ; died November 8, 1824. She was married to John Jacob Meyer, * brother of Philip Meyer, who was married to Julia's sister, Anna Margaret, (see page 71.) The family lived near Freeburg, Pa., until 1809, when they moved to Pine Creek township, Lycoming, now Clinton county, Pa. Julia and her husband are buried in Pine Creek Cemetery, † two miles west of Jersey Shore, just South of the West Branch canal. No tombstones mark their resting place. The descendants of this couple reside in Clinton and Lycoming counties, Pa., principally.

* John Jacob Meyer was a native of Muhlbach, Lancaster, now Lebanon county, Pa., and came with his father, Jacob Meyer, to Penn's township, near Freeburg, Pa., about the year 1771. In 1809, he and his son Jacob visited the vicinity of Jersey Shore, Pa., with a view of purchasing a farm and locating there. Mr. Meyer, supposing that the country south of town abounded in too much water, made his purchase two miles northwest of Jersey Shore. The farm he bought is at present owned by Harrison Kinney, now located in Pine Creek township, Clinton county, Pa. Mr. Meyer's will was probated at Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 18, 1815 : the date of its execution is Nov. 5, 1815. The time of his death is not known, but occurred between the two dates just given. In his will, Mr. Meyer signed his name simply Jacob Moyer ; the Register when he certified to the paper, wrote it Jacob Myers, which would seem to indicate that it was then already customary with some to write the name Myers.

† Pine Creek Cemetery is an old burying ground about midway between the mouth of Pine Creek and Jersey Shore. It is the first place where the early settlers of the vicinity buried their dead.

JULIA.

JOHN.

CATHERINE (Julia, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, Pa., near Freeburg, December 2, 1788 ; died March 13, 1858. She was married to George Meyer, * her cousin. He was born at Campbellstown, Lebanon county, Pa., March 25, 1782 ; died January 1, 1854 ; both are buried in the Reformed Cemetery, Aaronsburg, Pa. Catherine was a woman of small stature ; was of a very kind, benevolent disposition, and greatly esteemed by her friends and neighbors for her many noble qualities.

There were seven children, five sons and two daughters.

I. GEORGE (Catherine, Julia, Andrew,) was born January 13, 1806 ; died near Aaronsburg, Pa., March 3, 1853. He was married to Lydia Harter. She was born near Aaronsburg, May 16, 1807 ; died November 6, 1856 ; both are buried in the Reformed Cemetery, Aaronsburg. George was a miller in Penn's Valley, near where Coburn station now is.

ISSUE SIX :

I. George J. was born January 17, 1830 ; married to Savilla Armagast, now deceased. He was a miller by trade, which occupation he followed for many years.

CHILDREN FIVE :

- (1) William.
- (2) Emma.
- (3) Agnes.

* George Meyer came into Penn's Valley, Centre county, Pa., in 1827, locating on Pine Creek, south of Aaronsburg, Pa., where he purchased a farm and a mill site on which a grist mill was erected. (Property of John George Morr.) Mr. Meyer was a man of stout physical frame and great strength, but was inferior in that respect to his giant brothers, Henry, John and Michael. The Meyers were nearly all fine singers ; many of them have been from generation to generation instructors in music, both vocal and instrumental, and have been leaders of choirs in the churches of the neighborhoods in which they resided. George Meyer led singing in the Reformed Church, Campbellstown, Pa., from the time he was sixteen years of age (1798) until 1827 when he removed to the vicinity of Aaronsburg, Pa. He led the singing in the Reformed Church, Aaronsburg, from 1827-32. Mr. Meyer was passionately fond of the chase, and often in company with near relatives, and others, indulged in this exhilarating pastime. His place was a recognized headquarters of the sporting fraternity of the neighborhood, and among those who frequently visited them were the famous hunters of that period, the Roush brothers.—Meyer Genealogy.

VII. JACOB G. (Catherine, Julia, Andrew,) was born near Campbellstown, Lebanon county, Pa., Oct. 16, 1824. He was married first to Henrietta C. Fairst, who was born Nov. 21, 1825; died April 18, 1876; buried in Reformed Cemetery, Aaronsburg, Pa.; second, to Mrs. Lydia A. Dutweiler, nee Strohm, who was born in Lebanon county, Pa., May 27, 1828. Jacob G. was the youngest child of the family, and enjoys the distinction of being a descendant through a line of youngest sons, beginning with Christopher, son of Henry Meyer, who came from Germany. He is one of the youngest of his generation, third from the Henry Meyer just mentioned, a generation that is now (1894) almost extinct. Jacob has passed the greater part of his life near the scenes of his youth, Penn's Valley, Centre county, Pa., engaged in various enterprises, and at present lives at Aaronsburg, retired from active business pursuits. In his younger days he was an efficient teacher in the schools of his neighborhood, but he turned his attention principally to music both vocal and instrumental, and soon took a high stand as a skillful instructor and leader in both branches. He began to teach music when but fifteen years of age. He is the author of a number of musical compositions which are considered fine productions, and have been deservedly popular. Jacob is a lover of music; all his family were musicians, and his home has for years been the headquarters for the musical geniuses of his neighborhood. He devoted the best days of his life to the teaching of the science in the singing-school and convention in his own and neighboring towns. Jacob is recognized as a man of fine intelligence, and he has exerted an amount of influence for good in the church, in education and in the numerous public questions which have from time to time come before the people for solution. He is a member of the Reformed Church, is liberal in her support and faithful in her doctrine, yet cherishing sentiments of charity toward other denominations. Politically he has always been a staunch Democrat, and has ever taken an active stand in defense of his party and its principles. In the fall of 1869, he was elected a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and served very acceptably during his term of office. He is a self-made man, never having enjoyed the advantages of higher instruction, except a short time at Lewisburg Academy. In stature he is tall, but not very heavy ; light complexion ; in voice, manner, and feature, he is a fair type of the Meyer tribe.

ISSUE FOUR :

1. Clara F. was born Dec. 2, 1849 ; died Nov. 8, 1889. She was married to W. Henry Philips, merchant, Aaronsburg, Pa.

CHILD ONE :

(1) Clara Elsie, born October 10, 1882.

2. William T. was born near Aaronsburg, Pa., September 20, 1853 ; married January 14, 1880, to Lizzie S., daughter of John H. Musser, Aaronsburg. William attended the schools of his town, which were considerably above the average grade of public schools throughout the rural districts and small villages, and being the fortunate possessor of a bright intellect he was enabled to rear the superstructure of a fair education, which he further developed by diligent private reading and study. But he inherited a taste for music which was stimulated to rapid development by the atmosphere of music pervading his father's home. At the early age of eight years, he began the systematic study of the science under the instruction of Prof. T. M. Carter. At ten, he produced his first musical composition which was published several years later. He continued his studies under several eminent instructors, successively, among whom were Dr. William Mason, of New York City, one of America's most prominent pianists, and Mr. George James Webb, celebrated voice teacher, of the same city. Possessing great natural talent for music, having studied under several of the best masters in the county, and having subjected himself to a persevering discipline, William became at an early age one of the most celebrated musicians of the State. After completing his course under instructors, he began teaching piano and voice culture, meantime composing quite a number of piano pieces, songs, anthems, etc., some of which became very popular. His health giving way under the continuous strain upon his nervous system, William was compelled to cease giving instructions in music for a time at least, and he has been devoting his time and attention to the notion and fancy goods business at Bellefonte, Pa., since April 1, 1889.

4. J. Calvin was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., south of Aaronsburg, January 31, 1861 ; married May 26, 1887, to Lizzie H. McCalmont. Calvin was the youngest, except an infant that lived but a few days, of a family of six children. When he was but four years of age his father quit farming and moved to Aaronsburg to engage in the mercantile business, and there, the subject of this sketch acquired the rudiments of an education in the public schools. Later he became a pupil of Prof. D. M. Wolf, Penn Hall, Pa., who prepared him for college. In September, 1878, he entered Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., graduating in June, 1881, having taken the valedictory, one of the honors of the institution. He then turned his attention to the profession of teaching, and in July, 1881, was elected Assistant Principal of the public schools of Bellefonte, Pa., and in the winter of 1883, upon the establishment of the Bellefonte High Schools, he was chosen Principal of that grade, being its first instructor, and graduating the first class from an institution that has grown and widened into a field of usefulness that challenges the support and confidence of the citizens of Bellefonte. In the summer of 1884, he resigned his place as Principal of the High School to take up in a more active way the study of law. December 24, 1884, after close application to his studies in the office of Alexander and Bower, he was admitted to the bar of Centre county. He then applied himself to the practice of law in the office of the late Judge Adam Hoy for several years, meantime taking an active part in the politics of his county, serving as chairman of the Democratic County Committee for one year. In August, 1886, he was nominated on the Democratic ticket as a candidate for District Attorney of Centre county, and was elected the following November, running far ahead of his ticket. Serving very acceptably during his term of three years, he was re-elected to the same office with a greatly increased majority in the fall 1889.

CHAPTER X.

ANNA BARBARA MORR AND HER DESCENDANTS

Anna Barbara Morr, the youngest of the children of Andrew Morr, was born in Penn's township, Northumberland county, near Freeburg, Pa., November 7, 1772. She was married to Frederick Stees. * There is no record of their marriage, neither is it known definitely at what age she died, but it is supposed her death occurred in 1804. Anna Barbara is buried in the Morr Cemetery near Freeburg, where repose the remains of her father, mother, a sister and her two brothers. Sometime after her death Mr. Stees married Mary (Riblet) Worthington who lived near Freeburg, Pa.

Frederick Stees was a native of Berks county, Pa. He came to Penn's township, Northumberland county, about the year 1788. His name appears in the list of residents of Mahantango township, in the same county, in 1796, a new township formed out of Penn's. His home was what is now known as Mt. Pleasant Mills, Snyder county, Pa. While residing here he owned 400 acres of land upon which were erected a grist and saw-mill which he built. He disposed of his property to John Schnee, a resident of Lebanon, Pa., about the year 1810, for the consideration of \$13,333.33 $\frac{1}{2}$. June 7, 1796, Mr. Stees was commissioned a Justice of the Peace for Mahantango township. In those days these officials did not hold this office for a term of years as now constituted, but the commission invariably specified "So long as you shall behave yourself well." He performed this trust until he located in that part of Penn's township, now known as the vicinity of Middleburg, Snyder co., Pa. Here, and what is known as Paxtonville, in the same county, he carried on the milling business on a rather extensive scale. He built not only grist mills but also factories in the present territory of Snyder and Union counties. They were driven by a superior waterpower and were operated by himself, his sons Jacob and Frederick. Mr. Stees established a good trade at Reading, Pa., for the sale of flour, woollen goods and products from his farm. Many were the fatiguing journeys made over-land with teams drawn by six horses. He annually fattened 300 hogs, killing as many as sixty of them in one day during the butchering season. He was a man of great wealth, but through his generous nature, and indomitable faith that never takes into account the frailties of human nature, his large fortune dwindled into a meager sum. In 1828, he moved on the John George Morr farm near Freeburg, Pa. Here he farmed and built a grist mill. After spending some time in this locality, he disposed of his property and located in the Lost Creek Valley, Juniata county, Pa. Here he spent his remaining years. He died in August, 1839, aged 72 years. He is buried at McAlisterville, in the county just named. Some years after his death a church was built over the grave where his body was laid at rest.

JACOB (Ann Barbara, Andrew,) was born in Mahantango township, Northumberland county, Pa. The following is the inscription on his tombstone in the Reformed Cemetery, Uniontown, Ohio: "Jacob Steese departed this life September 7, 1833, in the 45th year of his age." He was married, April 9, 1809, to Sarah Deshler. In the same cemetery in which repose the remains of her husband will be found a tombstone, the inscription upon which reads as follows: "Sacred to the memory of Sarah Steese who departed this life June 22, 1836, in the 51st year of her age." It is not known positively in what year Mr. Steese moved to Ohio, but it is supposed about the year 1829.

There were eleven children, seven sons and four daughters.

I. ISAAC (Jacob, Anna Barbara, Andrew,) was born Dec. 23, 1809; died Aug. 10, 1874. He was married to Anna Johnson. Mr. Stees was for many years a resident of Massillon, Ohio, where he was a banker and practiced as a physician.

III. GEORGE (Jacob, Anna Barbara, Andrew,) was born Dec. 5, 1812; died August 8, 1876. He married Rebecca Neff, January 1, 1840. Previous to his marriage, Mr. Stees was engaged in the milling business and later on followed mercantile pursuits. At the time of his marriage, he and his brother Edward were engaged in the mercantile business in Springfield near Uniontown, O. Later on he moved his store to Brimfield, Portage county, Ohio, where he remained a short time then sold out and moved to the former place, resuming his trade, milling and cloth dressing. He afterwards erected a saw-mill, all of which industries were run by water power. In a few years thereafter, he attached a spinning machine and power looms where he manufactured all kinds of cloth and flannel. He disposed of his property at a good profit when he again located at Brimfield. Here he bought a farm in 1859, but did not remain at this place for any length of time, but locating at Akron intending to make that city his permanent home. He purchased a saw-mill with nine acres of land upon which were erected a house and barn on South Main street. To this he added a grist mill and run both together for several years. In 1865, he sold the property to his cousin, ex-Sheriff Levi S. Herrold, and having in the meantime built a large residence on the opposite side of the street where he had lived, moved into it when Mr. Herrold took possession of the property. Mr. Stees purchased a share in a coal mine south of Akron and latterly took the bank stock from the Exchange Bank of Akron, of which he was president, in order to obtain the controlling interest of the same. This he held within a short period of his death. Mr. Stees was a believer in Universalism.

During his life time, Mr. Stees resided at Dauphin, Harrisburg and Philadelphia : but lived at the place last named principally.

There were eight children, six sons and two daughters.

I. PHILIP FREDERICK (Benjamin M., Anna Barbara, Andrew,)

* Lydia Greenawalt Stees lived to a good old age. Her eighty-sixth birthday was celebrated June 22, 1885. A leading journal of St. Paul, Minn., thus describes the event : "Here in Minnesota we seldom have the pleasure to chronicle such an event. Four generations under one roof, and that roof covered the house of Mr. William J. Sleppy of Dayton Avenue, the home of Mrs. Lydia G. Stees. Her father was a Colonel in the Continental Army, and served under LaFayette at the battle of Germantown, and the spirit there displayed was continued through his descendants down to the war of 1812, the Mexican war, and the war of the late Rebellion, and hasn't run out yet, and it was always her boast to remind her children that she was born in the year that General Washington died—1799. It is remarkable how she retains her faculties, and the vigor of her mind and body is simple unsurpassable. Her children simply worship her, and when assembled together forget they are parents and grandparents, and become "boys and girls" once again, and she is never more happy than when these same "old boys and girls" gather around her and speak of the 'old days gone by,' of their frolics and childhood reminiscences at the old home on the Susquehanna river, east of the Alleghenies. The offerings of the evening were both numerous and pleasing, confined principally to fruits and flowers, among which one of the features was a basket of flowers, with the monogram "1799."

was born in Union county, Pa., February 6, 1822 ; died at Philadelphia, Pa., July 15, 1858. He was married to Elizabeth, daughter of Franklin Stichter, merchant, Lebanon, Pa. His wife is deceased ; both are buried at Lebanon, Pa. Philip was a druggist at Philadelphia.

II. CLINTON G. (Benjamin M., Anna Barbara, Andrew,) was born at Columbia, Pa., August 26, 1823 ; died at Philadelphia, December 17, 1875 ; buried in Monument Cemetery, Philadelphia. He was a graduate of Lititz College, near Lancaster, and was afterwards highly commended by Prof. Chapman when he received his diploma at the graduating exercises of the Medical University, Philadelphia, Pa. He went as surgeon under Captain Turley in ship Tuscarora which was wrecked during a voyage to Europe. While practicing medical surgery, he ran for Congress and was defeated by Dr. Seltzer, who had one majority. In 1862, he went as surgeon under General Sibley during the Indian massacre in Minnesota, and was badly frozen while crossing the prairie to Fort Pomme de Teue. Regaining his health, he was ordered south during the remainder of the war. He was brevetted a Lieutenant Colonel. His death resulted from injuries received while crossing the Minnesota prairies. He was a member of the Reformed Church. He was married to Virginia Friend, St. Paul, Minn. He had two daughters ; the eldest lives with her mother at Philadelphia.

III. WASHINGTON MOORE (Benjamin M., Anna Barbara, Andrew,) was born at Lebanon, Pa., March 29, 1826 ; died suddenly at his home, 488 Grand Avenue, St. Paul, Minn., of heart disease, January 31, 1890 ; buried in Oakland Cemetery, St. Paul, Minn. The following is taken from an article which appeared in a St. Paul paper at the time of his death : "The death of Mr. Stees decimates still further the honorable ranks of our worthy old pioneers, among whom he stood in the very front rank, St. Paul having been his home for the last forty years. He was a graduate of Lititz College, near Lancaster, Pa. He went to Philadelphia, where he met his wife, who was Miss Ann Kirk, coming to this city in 1850, established himself in the furniture business. In 1854, the firm of Stees Brothers was established, and continued for thirty years. He had often been urged to run for office by his many friends, but, having no liking for political life, he declined to do so. He was, however, first chief of the fire department of St. Paul in 1854, and also County Commissioner of Ramsey county in 1859. Throughout his life he has been devoted to his family and business, passing his last days in the enjoyment of the competency which he had earned. For many years, he lived on his farm at Lake Phalen, but latterly he purchased an elegant residence on Grand Avenue commanding a magnificent view up and down the river. He has been for years a prominent member of the Central Presbyterian Church, and lived to lay the corner stone of the new edifice now being erected." In his will he gave to five charitable institutions share and share alike; to his sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Sleppy, $5,000, and to his brother Charles J. Stees, $2,000. His wife received her full legal share, and his daughter, Sarah K. Stees, the residue of his estate after the foregoing bequests have been satisfied. He had two children, a son and daughter; the latter married and lives with her mother at St. Paul.

CATHERINE (Anna Barbara, Andrew,) was born in Penn's township, Union county, Pa., September 4, 1800 ; died September 12, 1866. She was married to John Bolender November 28, 1817. He was born in Penn's township, Union county, Pa., Feb. 26, 1796 ; died August 28, 1868. The couple had lived in their native State until the Spring of 1840. Their emigration to the West, the length of time it required to make the journey and how they fared in their new home, is thus described in a letter written by their son, the Hon. John Bolender, of Monroe, Wisconsin, dated February 25, 1895. "My parents made farming their pursuit in life. Not being blessed with sufficient means to have a farm of their own they were obliged to hunt such farms as could be had. Finding it up hill work to maintain their large family in their native State, they decided to try what was then called 'the west.' After selling what they could not take with them they set their faces westward. The train was a special, made up of a two-horse and one-horse wagon. This was about the first of April 1840, and arrived at Rock Grove, Stephenson county, Illinois, June 6 following. The first stopping place was about a half mile of the State line, between the State of Illinois, and the Territory of Wisconsin. Their house was a log house fifteen feet square and it together with the covered wagons furnished shelter for the family until better quarters were provided. My parents purchased a squatter claim within a few days after their arrival and set to work at building what is known as a hewed log house, about 20x32 feet, two stories high. My father did the stonework as well as the carpenter work including the shingles necessary to cover the house, in fact did all that was necessary in the erection of the building with what assistance he received from the family. By the first of October we found ourselves comfortably housed in what we could call home. The land purchased was about 500 acres, as good as can be found in Northern Illinois. My father's object in buying this Claim was to procure the crop on a number of acres of winter wheat and corn, potatoes, beans and buckwheat. The first winter we spent in our new house was somewhat lonesome, although we had enough to live on. Neighbors were not plenty, but those who had settled in the neighborhood were mostly Germans and regarded as friendly. What my parents missed most was church and school. After providing a house for their family a school house was erected in which project other families who had then located assisted. A teacher was at once secured who taught a subscription school and this method of teaching remained until the free school system came. My father's house was used as a church for many years. Father was a member of the Reformed Church and mother of the Lutheran Church. My parents lived on the farm upon which they settled in 1840 to the time of their death. Their remains now rest in the Reformed and Lutheran cemetery near the village of Rock Grove, Stephenson county, Illinois."
